

CLUBWOMAN KILLS MATE, SHOTS SELF

Frederick K. Hunt, Oakland, Retired U. S. Navy Officer, Slain by Wife, Who Then Fatally Wounds Herself

Slayer Sick and Despondent For Some Time; Shooting Prompted by Desire That She, Husband Go Together

Frederick K. Hunt, 54, a retired naval officer of 4119 Howe street, is dead, and his wife, aged 50, a prominent Eastbay club woman, is dying at the Emergency hospital as a result of a bullet from a pistol which she turned upon herself this morning after she shot her husband.

According to physicians, the woman can live for only a few hours at the most. The bullet penetrated her temple. Her husband's death apparently was instantaneous, the bullet entering the head.

The murder and attempted suicide, according to physicians and police, were the result of a desire that she and her husband "might go together."

WOMAN'S NIECE FINDS BODIES LYING ON BED.

Mrs. Randolph Miller, 4256 Gilbert street, Mrs. Hunt's niece, this morning found it necessary to force her way into the Hunt residence when she came about 11 o'clock to visit the couple.

Finding no one in the front rooms, she peered into a bedroom and saw the bodies of Hunt and his wife, lying side by side on the bed, clad in night clothing. She notified the police.

At the Emergency hospital, Mrs. Hunt, in a dying statement to Deputy District Attorney James Walsh, admitted firing the shot that killed her husband and turning the pistol on herself.

"I have been suffering from insomnia for some time," Mrs. Hunt told Walsh, "and my husband has been kept awake attending me, so I was afraid it would drive him crazy. I did not want to see anything like that happen so I decided to do better and it all got together."

BROODING OVER ILLNESS FOR SOME TIME.

According to Mrs. Miller, her aunt had been in poor health for some time and had suffered from nervous prostration recently. During this time she was under the care of Dr. S. V. Irwin.

Mrs. Hunt has been in ill health for a year or more and recently has become highly nervous," Mrs. Miller said today. "She has been brooding over her illness and thought that her nervousness was causing her husband to become nervous too."

"As a matter of fact, the nervousness simply was the outgrowth of a minor illness," Mrs. Miller said. "I was the attending physician."

It was to have been the last of the attending physician's visits to Mrs. Hunt when she was taken to the hospital. She was taken there in the hope that this would clear up the situation.

"I suppose that she worried over this visit to the hospital and began brooding over the fact that she might die and leave her husband alone. They have been married for a long time and were very much attached to each other."

She was a splendid mother, Mrs. Miller said.

WE HAVE ALL KNOWN THAT Mrs. Hunt was a light sleeper for some time and had been brooding over the fact that she might die and leave her husband alone. They have been married for a long time and were very much attached to each other."

Mrs. Hunt was the daughter of the late Charles Wendell of the city and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. John Miller and Mrs. George Miller, who is county treasurer of Solano.

That Mrs. Hunt shot her husband as he slept early this morning and then turned the revolver on herself was the belief expressed by the police and Mrs. Miller. She said later that they heard two muffled shots similar to pistol shots about half past seven o'clock this morning.

It was not until four hours later that Mrs. Miller arrived at the house to pay a visit.

Suitor Jilted 30 Years Ago Claims Bride, Now Widow

MRS. ANNA BERWICK, prominent in Berkeley's social and club circles, who on New Year's Eve will wed her girlhood sweetheart—McCallagh Photo.

San Mateo Business Man Will Wed Berkeley Clubwoman After Long Wait

BERKELEY, Dec. 29.—After waiting for more than 30 years, Rolf Anderson, San Mateo business man, will claim his bride on Sunday night.

The bride whose "yes" will culminate a romance that began when the principals were schoolmates in San Mateo is Mrs. Anna Berwick, prominent in club and social circles in Berkeley.

As a youth Anderson wooed his pretty playmate. But fate decreed that he be a bachelor, for the maiden chose another and became Mrs. Charles C. Berwick and he remained true to his first love. Almost two years ago Mrs. Berwick became a widow, as a result of an accident while Berwick was on a duck-hunting expedition.

Through all the years the Berwicks and Anderson remained close friends. Anderson's sympathy was extended to his widowed friend and later the suit that he began when he carried school books for a rich school maiden was renewed. This time he was successful and now plans are being completed for a family wedding on Sunday night at the home of the bride's son, Dr. Charles Coleman Berwick, 497 Belvedere street, San Francisco.

Later a reception and New Year's eve party will be held at the residence of another son of the bride, James T. Berwick, 4252 Sutcliffe avenue, Berkeley. Both of Mrs. Berwick's sons are well known members of the University of California.

Mrs. Berwick, who has resided in Berkeley for many years, is a leader of Native Daughters' activities in Alameda county and formerly was president of Bear Flag Parlor. She also is active in club work.

Anderson is a leader in the San Mateo. He and his bride will establish their home in that city after a wedding trip.

DAMAGED BY FIRE

DAMAGE DONE AT $10,000 AT MARE ISLAND.

WILSON, Dec. 29.—Fire in the engine room of the United States gunboat R-6 caused $10,000 damage before it could be extinguished. At the submarine base on Mare Island this morning. The fire burned for about fifteen minutes.

Much of the damage was caused by water used in fighting the fire. Flooding the engines and batteries of the gunboat.

The R-6 arrived from San Pedro six months ago for undergoing complete repairs before being joined to the fleet on the Southern California coast. It was scheduled to leave the submarine base last of January but will be delayed about two months, authorities say.

Lieutenant J. M. Steele, commander of the submarine, says the fire started while the starboard engine was being tested. A naval board of inquiry has been called to meet this afternoon for an investigation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—President Harding's engagements today included an appointment with Prince Gelasio Tenetanti, the new Italian ambassador, to call at the White House to present his credentials.

FIRM BOOZE RULES MADE FOR POLICE

Search Warrants Not Needed For Oakland Automobiles or Hotels, According to Decision At Conference

Police Are Given Free Hand to Act, But Are Cautioned to Be Pretty Sure of Violation Before Entrance

Police officers in Oakland are to use their "common sense" and not the list of don'ts compiled by District Attorney Mathew Brady in the enforcement of the Wright Act.

This was the announcement made today by Commissioner Frank Colbourn following a lengthy conference yesterday attended by police officers above the rank of patrolmen, representatives of the district attorney's office and Federal Commissioner Albert Hardie.

The contention of the San Francisco prosecutor that personal "rights" must be observed by the policemen in that city and that no raids, seizures or arrests be made without a warrant, excepting in a case where the arrest of an officer was considered "too liberal" a policy.

RULES OF PROCEDURE ADOPTED.

As a result of the conference, the following rules of procedure were evolved for the Oakland policemen after the right of search had been especially discussed:

No search of private premises should be started without "sane and reasonable belief" that liquor is being sold or stored therein. The policeman who suspects liquor and seeks a search warrant shall consult with the proper legal authorities, who will advise him.

Knocking windows and battering of doors will be indulged in only in extreme cases, where the evidence is absolute.

Arrests will be made where a policeman observes a liquor transaction; but where the policeman only has suspicion he is advised to proceed cautiously.

A general search of automobiles will not be allowed.

An automobile can be stopped if it is suspected of being a "runner" or if liquor is actually observed therein; but there will be no hitting and searching of automobiles promiscuously.

As the bond of the judge issuing the search warrant is liable to attack in case of a mistake, the patrolmen are instructed to make no mistakes.

RUTTER PROMISES RAIDS ON HOTELS.

In San Francisco, the Brady interpretation of police procedure in the enforcement of the act is, not going to be followed generally according to announcement of Prohibition Director S. P. Rutter, who said today that his operatives will proceed as before.

Brady said forth that the police could not lawfully molest a person upon mere suspicion in his automobile, his home or where a bona fide guest of a hotel. The latter appealed to the New Year's eve frolicer who saw in an opportunity to carry his "tip city" as in the past.

Then, just when all the devotees, because of the late John D. Rockefeller were in the midst of their rejoicings, the coming evening bliss, came a dictum from the office of Rutter, who set forth that he intends to make raids promiscuously on New Year's Eve.

"Notwithstanding anything the local police may do or not do in regard to the prohibition of liquor," Rutter will raid every place where "tip" is sold.

"I said Rutter. 'Courts have held that it is unlawful to serve liquor in hotel dining rooms.' Only a hotel dining room is not a public place and a search warrant is not a private residence and a search warrant is not a private residence and a search warrant is not a private residence."

And in regard to the searching of automobiles which Brady advised was not within the province of the policeman unless he saw the law violated, Rutter sets forth that his operatives will continue to search wherever they have reason to believe that the motorists contain alcohol.

Aside from the plans for the New Year's eve celebration, Rutter has started his war on the alleged bootleggers and salaried today that the whiskey allowance of all druggists will be materially decreased, especially in the cases of those druggists whose whiskey prescription business shows unusual growth during 1922.

Acetylene Blast Kills One at Mare Island

Mount Shasta Climbers Face Grave Problems

Tribune Expedition Must Brave Deep Snow and Ice to Reach Summit.

By CHARLES E. WARNER, Special Representative of The TRIBUNE.

SISSON, Dec. 29.—The TRIBUNE'S New Year expedition to the summit of Mount Shasta is leaving for Shasta Alpine Lodge. Snow is too deep for pack horses except the first three miles from 4500-foot elevation to the lodge.

Leonard Thatcher and myself, with two local packers, will proceed on snowshoes and skis, carrying our equipment and supplies on our backs. We will carry about 60 pounds each to the lodge. Thatcher met me at Redding Thursday.

A heavy storm swept this part of the state Wednesday night, and the snow is from six inches to a foot deep in Sisson. The trees are snow clad. Storm clouds enveloped Mount Shasta yesterday, breaking at times and affording a clear view of the mountain, which is now pure white from the timber line to the summit.

SNOW LIES DEEP AT EXPEDITION'S BASE.

Reports indicate that there are from four to five feet of snow at Shasta Alpine Lodge, 3000 feet above sea level, where Thatcher and I will establish our base. From that point we shall proceed alone.

Saturday and Sunday we shall reconnoiter the route to the vicinity of Thumb rock, which is said to be the most difficult and dangerous locality on the trip. It is possible that we shall be forced to abandon the regular route and pioneer a new one.

People here and on the train were intensely interested in The TRIBUNE ascent, most of them believing that to reach the summit is impossible at this time of the year, when the mountain is caked with treacherous snow and ice, and its glaciers are but pitfalls to disaster.

However, all agree that if the trip is successful, it will greatly increase the travel of mountaineers and tourists to northern California.

WILL MAKE DASH NEW YEAR'S MORNING.

We have been forced to make a slight change in the schedule of our final dash from the lodge to the summit by moon light. It was previously planned to begin the last lap on midnight or shortly before New Year's eve. We now intend to leave at 1 a. m. New Year's morning.

It will be this trek which will contain the hazards and perils of the expedition. To reach the summit on schedule will necessitate that we make our climb with all possible speed, taking practically no time out for halts, and we will be forced to pick our way over treacherous snow fields, holding manifold hidden dangers, and climb crags and rock walls, slipping from ice and in many places with almost no foothold.

If the weather conditions make it necessary that we must abandon our original route, and indications are that they will, the ascent will be still more dangerous.

We hope to reach the summit between 7 and 11 a. m. New Year's Day, and expect for stormy conditions, or unforeseen delays, we shall return to Sisson New Year's night.

STILL BREWER COMMITS SUICIDE

Prohibition Losses Drive W. J. Lemp to Take Own Life; Third in Family.

W. J. Lemp, 54, president of the William J. Lemp Brewing Company, committed suicide today by shooting himself through the heart in the office of the company in the southern section of the city.

It was the same office in the family of famous brewers, his father and a sister having taken their own lives.

The W. J. Lemp Brewing Company, just before the advent of prohibition, was considered one of the largest brewing companies in the world. It covered a 14-acre triangular tract and was valued at $7,000,000.

It was sold at auction last June for five different interests for a total of $355,000. Lemp had been downcast since then. It was said.

Lemp appeared at his office at 9 a. m. today as usual, it was stated, and shortly thereafter Henry Volkamp, vice-president, arrived and greeted Lemp:

"Well, how do you feel today?" "Oh, I'm feeling worse," Lemp replied, according to Volkamp. Volkamp said he then went to his office as Lemp's secretary, Miss Alvina Berschke, arrived. Miss Berschke stepped out a short while when she heard two shots.

EAST FACES FUEL Famine IN BLIZZARD

New York, in Throes of Worst Storm of Year, Has Only 48 Hours' Supply of Coal and Rail Lines Blocked

Hospitals Busy As Casualties Grow; Four Deaths in New England States; Bootleg Boats Are Blown Ashore

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—(By International News Service.)—Boston and other New England cities today were facing a fuel famine as the result of a terrific storm which killed four persons and demoralized rail and marine traffic. The victims met death in Boston, Providence, R. I., and Lakeport, N. H.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(By International News Service.)—While New York shivered today in 20 degrees below zero weather, in the wake of the heaviest storm of the winter, the city was menaced with the worst fuel crisis in its history. There is only 48 hours' supply of coal on hand and snow has blocked many of the railway lines leading to the fuel terminals.

The storm began with a gale which swept all the eastern states but particularly the Atlantic coast. Rain turned to sleet and sleet to snow. Throughout the early part of the day a sky-mile wind whirled the snow in high drifts.

One man was killed and many others were injured. Twenty-five persons were shaken up when a Brooklyn electric car was derailed by ice upon the tracks.

HOSPITALS KEPT BUSY CARING FOR INJURED.

The deep slush which filled the streets was frozen over, making foot traffic dangerous. The hospitals were kept busy caring for persons injured in falls.

Railroad and street traffic were badly crippled and thousands of commuters were held up. Steamship traffic was halted by the fog, snow and high wind.

Four vessels laden with liquor—two of them carrying bootleggers and their cargoes lost—were put at work cleaning the slush business thereabouts.

SHIPS IN DISTRESS AND MANY OVERDUE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(By the United Press.)—Five ships are in distress on the Atlantic Coast, many others are overdue, scores are held in port unable to venture out, sea-board cities are shorted in ice and five persons are known to be dead, as a result of gales which raged during the past twenty-four hours.

Many liners were reported behind schedule, including the Cunarder Berengaria, which is bringing Ambassador Harvey home from London.

The schooner Maudie Penobscot, with a crew of four men, was believed to have gone down fifty miles off Portland, Maine.

An S. O. S. was received from the steamer Miametown, with a crew of 24 men, Norfolk to Boston, which was partially waterlogged.

The steamer Santa Rosa was ashore off Charleston, S. C.

The schooner Corrois, some 40 miles off New York, wireless she was in distress.

The schooner Anna L. Spindler, of Nova Scotia, grounded at Race Point, near Provincetown, Mass. A score of vessels remained behind the Delaware breakers, while the tide whipped up by "nor'easter" waves "outside" and the air was thick with sleet and snow.

GREEK ARMY RUSHED TO HOLD THRACE

War Moves by Powers Follow Halt in Negotiations and Threaten Final Collapse of Near East Parley

Allies Prepare Rough Draft of Peace Pact While Kemal Envoys Hold Out On Mosul Fields Issue

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A dispatch to the Daily Express from Athens says the entire Greek army is moving toward Thrace, war being considered inevitable.

BY THE UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Meeting of the British cabinet today, ostensibly to discuss reparations, was believed due in a large measure to the critical Near East situation, where war clouds once more loomed.

British pictures the Lausanne parley as on the verge of an unavoidable break. Naval policies were understood to be under discussion, following the hurried orders to the Mediterranean fleet to proceed to the straits.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 29.—The deadlock in the Near East conference with differences over capitulations and oil territory threatening a possible rupture, continued until broken today pending the arrival of fresh instructions to the Turkish delegation from Ankara. The entire situation has been submitted by telegram to the Ankara authorities while Hassan Bey, the third Ottoman plenipotentiary, who left recently for Angora, to outline the status of the negotiations to Mustapha Kemal Pasha and the Grand National Assembly, is due to arrive at the Nationalist capital today.

ALLIES PREPARE ROUGH DRAFT OF PACT.

The allies, meanwhile are preparing a rough draft of the peace treaty, which will contain the allied conception of the various clauses and specify also the counter views of the Turks on the disputed questions.

The report that the British Mediterranean fleet had been ordered to return to Constantinople has stirred Lausanne and has served to emphasize the delicacy of the situation.

The supposition now seems to exist among the allies that the deadlock will drag on until the Turks see how the reparations conference of the plenipotentiaries at Paris turns out.

BY THE UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Resumption of war between Greece and Turkey is considered inevitable in the Near East, according to a columnist from Athens to the Daily Express today.

Former Premier Venizelos, envisioning a breakdown of the Lausanne conference, has telegraphed the Greek revolutionary government urging that reinforcements be rushed to the Greek army in Thrace and that the 1920 and 1922 armistices be annulled.

The Greek correspondent declared that the entire Greek army should be sent to Thrace, leaving only one regiment in Athens. The same adviser reported that General Panagiotis, Greek commander in Thrace, has entrained secretly for Salonika.

FINAL DECISIONS WITH TURKS.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 29.—Final decisions on the Near East conference were expected today. The conference stood practically suspended until the plenipotentiaries from Ankara and Constantinople arrived.

The plenipotentiaries from Ankara had a few days to reply to allied demands for a peace treaty and a final decision on the reparations issue. If a final decision was reached, it would mean the immediate end of the peace conference, delegates declared.

Meanwhile, the British were reported making preparations to meet an armed break with a return to armed watchfulness at the straits. A British fleet, led by the Iron Duke, was reported under full steam for the straits.

The conference having become a struggle between British and Turks to shift the blame on each other for the break, and regarded as inevitable, the former have won the backing of all other delegations except the Russians. The United States supported the allied demands for judicial guarantees. France, Japan and Italy stood with Great Britain in the matter of capitulations.

Man Jumps From 16th St. Elevated Track to Express

Ray Garber, 20, a cook, who started out last night to beat his way to Bakersfield to take a job in the oil fields, had a narrow escape from serious injury when he jumped 20 feet from the upper tracks at the Sixteenth street depot to the top of a moving passenger train.

Garber, however, wrenched his heels so badly that he was forced to abandon his trip. He dropped from the train and was taken to the Emergency hospital by the police and was today removed to the county hospital.

According to his story he started to walk along the tracks, planning on boarding a passing train. By mistake he followed the elevated electric tracks and passenger train No. 26 came along just as he was on the tracks over the street tracks.

Rather than miss his free ride Garber decided to take a chance and jump.

Garber's home is at Grand Junction, Colo.

HUGE DEFENSE FUND GATHERED

Million Dollars to Be Raised to Defend Dr. McKoin in K. K. Murder Case.

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MER ROUGE, La., Dec. 29.—A million-dollar defense fund was being organized today to fight the State's efforts to rid Morehouse parish of the terrorist bands.

Some of the most noted criminal lawyers in the country have received overtures to act in behalf of those implicated on charges of murder and outlaws. Federal investigators learned.

The source of funds for this gigantic defense was being traced by Department of Justice operatives today.

Friends of Dr. B. M. McKoin, former mayor, also were raising a fund of $50,000 to prevent his return here from Baltimore, where he is held, charged with the two murders.

Federal agents today refused to announce details of confessions of two members of the terrorist mob implicating 45 other prominent citizens of the parish. The confessions told of the kidnapping of five men on August 24 and described the slaying of Watt Daniels and Thos. Richards. It was reported.

SHERIFF EXPECTS FURTHER ARRESTS.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MONROE, La., Dec. 29.—Sheriff Fred Carpenter, of Morehouse parish, today declared that there will be further arrests in the Morehouse kidnapping investigation upon the return of the federal investigators who were in New Orleans yesterday attending a conference with state officials.

Sheriff Carpenter said that forty-five citizens might be involved in the plot, he did not believe that this number were actual participants in the kidnapping of the Morehouse citizens and deaths of Watt Daniels and Thos. Richards.

Friends of Dr. B. M. McKoin, in the Fifth Louisiana Congressional District, where a year ago he was president of the medical association, continued today to offer their assistance with pledges of financial and moral support.

Although the plot of the professed came from physicians, it is stated that plans are under way to raise $100,000 as a general fund to be used to provide bail, to aid him in his fight to prevent extradition and as a means of defense, should he be brought back to Louisiana to stand trial.

Dr. McKoin is charged with murder in connection with the Morehouse kidnapping.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 29.—The Baltimore Sun today reported that Dr. B. M. McKoin, held for the Louisiana authorities in connection with the Mer Rouge tragedy, was today removed to the hospital of the Baltimore city jail, suffering with a severe bronchial attack.

The friend, Dr. H. H. Fournier, was called in and attending him this morning.

BORAH PLAN IS DROPPED BY AUTHOR

Senator Johnson Declares World Economic Conference Would Embroil U. S. Worse Than the League

Scheme of Idaho Solon in Interest of International Bankers, Charge; Feelers Sent to Foreign Nations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Advised by administration leaders that his naval bill amendment would be "harmful" to the administration's negotiations to aid in the European economy conditions, Senator Borah late today said in the Senate that he would withdraw it.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, told the senate today that the administration already had "put out feelers" to foreign governments regarding calling of such a conference as is proposed in the Borah naval bill amendment.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—A vote before night on the Borah proposal for a world economic conference, which is opposed by the administration was sought by Senate leaders today while the third day's debate on the project proceeded with increasing fury. As "irreconcilable" colleagues of Senator Borah hurled broadsides at his plan as embodied in an amendment to the naval appropriation bill, the Republican managers negotiated quietly for a roll call before adjournment and a recess over New Year's Day.

Senator Johnson, Republican, Calif., who fought shoulder to shoulder with Senator Borah against the League of Nations, opened today's forensic battle with a two-fronted attack on the conference plan. The proposal, said Senator Johnson, was worse than the league and more likely to "embroil us in European controversies and finally make the United States, after 150 years, a part of the European system." He added that such a conference would "jeopardize our future."

"I am against it," said Senator Johnson, "for precisely the reasons I was against taking the United States into the League of Nations. I am against it because in my opinion it will do exactly what, thus far we have declined to do. I am against it because in even greater degree it will lead us into a European war, a part of the European system."

SOCIETY WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND, SHOOTS HERSELF

Frederick K. Hunt, Oakland, Slain by Wife, Who Tries to Commit Suicide.

Hunt's physician, she was often depressed and discouraged as a result of her nervous trouble and frequently talked about wanting to die. Only recently, according to the physician, Mrs. Hunt remarked to him: "I hope that when the time comes, Fred and I can go together." WOMAN ACTIVE IN WAR RELIEF WORK HERE.

Dr. Irwin believes that the woman's desire to die with her husband, coupled with her illness, preyed on her mind to such an extent that she decided to kill Hunt and then end her own life.
Hunt had been an officer in the navy for a number of years. During the war he was stationed at Vallejo. He was chief pay clerk with the rank of ensign, and was retired some time ago.
Mrs. Hunt was prominently connected with the activities of many women's clubs of the Eastbay. During the war she played an important role in Belgian relief work with the Oakland Center, California Civic League and the Piedmont Civic Center.
The Hunts have resided at the Howe-street address since 1912.

to cut down allowances," Rutter said. "All whisky withdrawals for the first three months of 1923 are coming in. I find that practically everybody wants the legal limit of 100 gallons of whisky or a like amount of alcohol. Well, they are not getting it."

Rutter said that hundreds of druggists who are asking the legal limit are receiving 25 to 50 gallons. Yesterday he reduced the whisky application 11,000 gallons. That is the last withdrawal in bulk, according to the prohibition director. The next withdrawal will be in sealed pint bottles, according to the government ruling.

LIQUOR TAMPERED WITH.
It was stated in Washington yesterday that in many instances whisky sold "for medicinal purposes" had been tampered with by the druggists handling the consignment after it left the warehouses. Some was being watered and more poisoned by the "doctoring," the government officials stated.

In this city, it was reported to Commissioner Colbourn today that analysis of the liquor seizures up to the present shows that in each case the whisky has been poisoned in a lesser or greater degree. The analysis accounts for the presence of methyl or "wood" alcohol in each sample by the fact that the liquor is not aged in wood. Commissioner Colbourn announced that charges of violating the State poison act would also be placed against bootleggers selling improperly distilled liquor.

That the amount of liquor consumed in California legally during 1922 will be more than a million gallons was declared by J. P. McLaughlin, internal revenue collector, today. Under the regulations of the Volstead act, 548,541.51 gallons of alcohol, gin, brandy and whisky have been released from the bonded warehouses of California for legitimate use since January 1. Vast quantities have also been shipped East under the law.

RAY REGION RAIDS GO ON.
While the enforcement officers were trying to get together on a set of working rules, the raids in the Bay region continued unabated, according to the police records.

Prohibition agents raided the home of Rudolph Schremsky in San Francisco today and obtained 15,000 bottles of beer which are being held for evidence.

This raid followed one at the Junction House in San Mateo, and the House of Hoo Hoo near San Jose and the Castro Villa roadhouse in Hayward last night. Several arrests were made at the Hayward resort as well as at the other establishments.

A ten-gallon still and 105 gallons of beer were seized by Sergeant E. W. Brock and Policeman Tim Dume when they raided the home of G. Oro, 257 Eighth street. The two officers raided the place after watching Oro, who had been acting suspiciously for some time. Just prior to the raid a number of people rang the door bell, but he refused to open the door. He was charged with violating the Wright act.

When he bumped into Sergeant Smith the police officer felt a bottle of some kind in his hip pocket. He grabbed the bottle and placed the man under arrest for violating the Wright act.

WOOD ALCOHOL NEARLY COSTS JANTON'S LIFE.
BERKELEY, Dec. 29.—Wood alcohol, which he mistook for a Christmas beverage, almost cost the life of Barney McDonald, a janitor, last night. McDonald was found in an apparently dying condition at Dwight way and San Pablo avenue by Officer George Kohler. He was removed to Temple hospital and a stomach pump used to extract the poison. He is now out of danger.

WINE GRAPE INDUSTRY NEAR OLD ZENITH.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—The wine grape growing industry in California has nearly reached its pre-prohibition proportions, according to figures made public today by R. L. Neugart of the state department of agriculture.

Shipments out of the state this year totalled 45,000 carloads of wine grapes, all destined to be made into wine "for domestic use."
He foresaw for the future a necessity for close study and careful handling of transportation facilities in order to prevent car shortages interfering with the movement of the crop.

TWO SOFT DRINK LICENSES REVOKED.
The soft drink licenses of two more alleged liquor sellers were revoked this morning by the city council at the request of the chief of police. They are J. E. Woods, 179 Twelfth street, and J. Aiken, 379 Eleventh street.

WRIGHT ACT VALIDITY TO BE ARGUED SATURDAY.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—The validity of the Wright act will be argued in the Superior Court here Saturday in habeas corpus proceedings for J. P. Williams, E. Ghio and Chris Adams, who have just begun serving sentences of 180 days each for its violation, imposed by police magistrates.

John S. Cooper, attorney for the men, announced that in his argument he would attack the validity of the Wright act on the grounds that its name fails to describe it, that the act exceeds the police power of the municipality, and that it attempts to incorporate under a state law what is already covered by federal statutes.

FEDERAL COURTS PLAN BOOZE DRIVE.
By LAWRENCE M. BENEDICT, United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—An intensive drive by the Federal courts to clean up the present congestion of liquor cases with the view of keeping convictions in pace with arrests, probably will come out of the conferences now being held here between Chief Justice

Taft, Attorney General Daugherty and federal circuit judges.

As the first move in the campaign, President Harding has started to fill the 21 district judgeships which are now vacant. Most of these vacancies are among the 24 additional judges created by Congress last summer especially to handle liquor cases. Three new judges were named yesterday.
If the Federal court can balance the dockets to the point where they can handle prohibition cases as fast as other classes of work, it is felt that the result would be a justification of the new appointments.

HANFORD, Cal., Dec. 28.—Spiro Papalian, owner of a local cafe, whose home was raided Tuesday by City Marshal Walter LaPoint and deputies, pleaded guilty on two charges and was sentenced by Judge S. B. Johnston to serve ninety days in the county jail and pay an aggregate of $500 in fines.

Booze Pirates Steal Wet Cargo, Then Sink Ship

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The rum-running skipper who double-crossed his employers, sold his cargo of Christmas liquor direct to bootleggers, peeked the money, then scuttled his ship, and, incidentally, information that the coast rum-runner had instituted an "air craft intelligence division" has just come to the ears of enforcement agents.

Prohibition enforcement officials said the yarn about the double-crossing skipper had been told to the chief of the aircraft intelligence division by a member of the ship's crew and then passed on to enforcement officers who frequent the lurking places of the runners.

The duties of the air force, it was said, consist of determining the location of craft carrying rum from the Bahamas and passing it to the owners of small vessels that bring the liquor to the American shore.

The air force, consisting of one plane and a pilot, is paid $500 for each flight.
The airman happened to be flying around about ten days ago when he saw a liquor-carrying vessel sinking and being abandoned by its crew. He noted this and later ran into one of her crew. The sailor said the vessel had a hold full of grog and the captain sold it all direct, gave each of the crew a bonus, kicked a hole in the old tub and left, hoping the vessel's owners would think she had gone down with whisky and all.

MAN ENDS LIFE BY GAS AFTER CAREFUL PLANS

BERKELEY, Dec. 29.—Fashioning a mask, John O'Toole, 40, placed the contrivance over his face last evening in his room at 2549 1/2 Telegraph avenue and then turned on the gas.

George McConnell, a roomer in the same house, detected the fumes and investigating found O'Toole lifeless. O'Toole evidently had planned the suicide for several days, fashioning the mask secretly in his room. The mask was made to fit his face with straps making it secure. A tube was attached to the mask from a gas burner.

A note was found in which O'Toole bequeathed $500 savings to his sister, Mrs. A. Curran, who resides in Berkeley. O'Toole is declared to have become separated from his wife six months ago and domestic troubles and failing health are declared to have caused him to become despondent. He was an upholsterer.

Four Are Injured In Auto Collision

Four persons are suffering from cuts and bruises today, following an automobile collision yesterday at Dutton avenue and Foothill boulevard, San Leandro. Those injured were Mrs. L. S. Wright of Wasco, Mrs. Robert Cruz of Fuguson, her 4-year-old son, Robert Jr., and George Brown of Fuguson. They were riding in a machine driven by Brown, which collided with the automobile of John Conocia of San Leandro.

EVERY BOOSTS NIGHT SCHOOLS

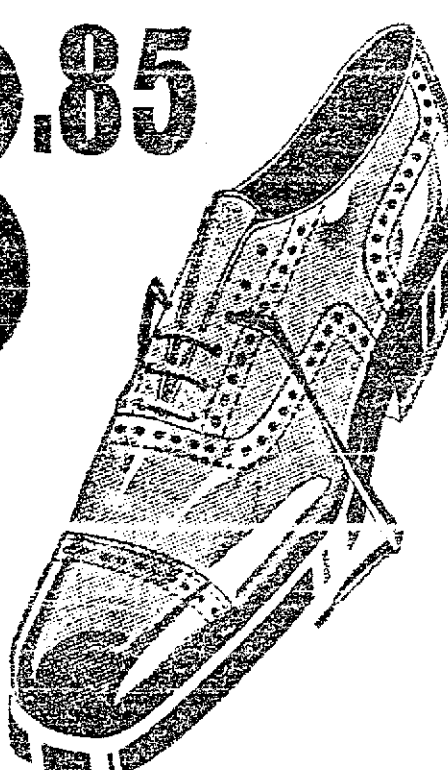

Foreigners who are educated in the night schools are more valuable in certain respects than the average American boy.

This was the keynote of the address made at the meeting of the Mutual Business Club in the Hotel Oakland yesterday by Louis P. Avery, assistant superintendent of schools.

Avery was discussing the importance of keeping up the teaching staff and the educational facilities in the evening schools and pointed out that it took three years' time and $220 to convert many foreigners into loyal and enthusiastic Americans in the schools.

"For the foreigner who goes without education and who does not understand the principles of American government is often a menace," said Avery.
Avery expressed regret that it has been found necessary to reduce the staff of night school teachers and to limit the number of students because of a lack of appropriations. There are only 2863 students enrolled in the classes of the evening schools this year as against 6000 in 1919.

SAFE IS HEFTED

AS TRIAL EXHIBIT

Assistant District Attorney Frank Shay, today, proved conclusively that the contention of the prosecution that it was a physical possibility for Thomas Walsh and John Dorney to lift a safe, which is an exhibit in the case and which the defendants are accused of having stolen from Louis Grill on the night of July 2.

The proof came at one of the most dramatic moments of the trial. Walsh was on the witness stand and had been asked by Attorney Ewell if he could lift the safe. Receiving a negative answer Ewell said, "Go over there and try."

Walsh left the stand and taking hold of the safe tugged for a while and then straightening up said, "I can't do that. I can't lift it."

"Pull harder," said Shay. Attorney Ewell turned on Shay and said, "Lift it yourself if you are so strong."

Shay sprang to his feet, went to the safe and taking hold of it lifted it to a position where it stood on its top with the wheels in the air.

A few moments later another clash came over the safe when Attorney Ewell asked permission of the court to turn it back down on its side. This being granted he had no sooner completed the process than Shay said:

"Why even you can lift the safe."

To this Ewell shouted in reply: "Shay, if you will lift that safe clear of the floor I will plead my client is guilty."

"That's just like you," replied Shay. "You would gamble with the liberty of your client against my ability to lift that safe."

At this point Judge Samuels put a stop to the argument by saying: "If you gentlemen do not sit down I will put you both in the county jail."

"I hope your honor puts us in the same cell," was Shay's reply, which ended the incident.

Mate Beat Her and Children, Says Wife

Brutal treatment of herself and children for years brought a separation on December 21 when Gertrude Johansen, a mechanic, flew into a rage over a game of checkers with his daughter, knocked the child to the floor and then struck his wife three times with his fist because, she remonstrated, declares Mrs. Agnes Johansen in a suit for custody of the children and $100 a month separate maintenance.

The wife declares there is community property consisting of the home at 2112 San Antonio avenue, Alameda, household effects and an automobile and that her husband left his position with a laundry on the day of separation but is now employed elsewhere.

Mrs. Johansen declares her husband has frequently kicked her and struck the children with various implements, declaring he was going to be mean so she would get a divorce. They were married in San Francisco, April 12, 1919. The children are Dana, 12; George, 11; Esther, 9, and Richard, aged 5.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The senate judiciary subcommittee will begin hearings January 10 on proposed constitutional amendments to authorize congress to regulate child labor, it was announced today. The subcommittee includes Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, and Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

Balthasar H. Meyer became chairman of the interstate commerce commission today for one year. This is in accordance with a policy of rotating the post among members on a basis of seniority in service.

TOO MUCH TALK GIVES DIVORCE

BASIC IN CHINA

Because a spouse talks too much is legal grounds for divorce to either husband or wife, in China, according to Miss Elsie McCormick, former Oakland newspaper woman, who addressed the Business and Professional Women's Club yesterday. Miss McCormick, who is leaving shortly for New York after a brief visit with her family in this city, has spent the past three years in the Orient.

A husband who is impolite to his aunt-in-law may become defendant in a divorce suit, under Chinese law, the returned traveler related.

China has no secret problem, Miss McCormick said. A first-class cook asks $9 a month gold for his labor, an ordinary coolie being content with $3, she said.

Mrs. Marguerite Bull was chairman of program yesterday.

Builders' Exchange Picks New Officers

A new board of directors was elected last night by the Oakland Builders' Exchange. The members also voted to uphold the wage scale of 1923 as recently fixed by the wage board.

A bigger building program for the new year was the prediction of the exchange. This year's activity was greater by half than any other previous year, according to the report of the president.

Accused Banker's Extradition Asked

Herbert S. Moore, former president of the American State Bank at Kearney, Neb., charged with embezzlement in direct borrowing and acting as an executive bank officer without a license, is to be taken back to Nebraska for trial, according to Lincoln authorities who announced today that a deputy, with requisitions papers, had left for Oakland to return him.

Losses suffered by the bank, through Moore's alleged irregularities, are estimated by J. E. Davis, Nebraska state secretary of trade and commerce, at $12,000. These have, for the most part, been made good by stockholders, it was said in despatches received here today.

ARRESTS CLOSE IN HOLLYWOOD'S NARCOTIC PROBE

U. S. Attorney Claims He Has Evidence on Men Whose Prominence Startling.

By ROBERT A. DONALDSON, United Press Staff Correspondent. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Evidence of a concrete nature in connection with the "higher ups" of the narcotic rings of Hollywood and Los Angeles is in the hands of Federal District Attorney Joe Burke, it was learned today. Burke admitted he is carefully preparing cases against "the men we really want." He believed that he soon would have enough evidence to place under arrest certain men in Hollywood and Los Angeles "whose prominence will startle the country."

Burke has been in conference with Ed Roberts, author of "The Sins of Hollywood," a volume of spicy stories of the movie colony, who is under indictment for alleged misuse of the mails in distributing the book. It is understood that Roberts, formerly a confidential agent for the big movie producers, has placed before Burke many "inside tips" concerning the manner in which "dope" is purveyed in the film colony, and has given names in connection with his information. At the same time further sensations were predicted for Roberts' trial, when Reginald Braggle, leader of the "blue law" campaign in Los Angeles, announced that Roberts last summer had given him the actual names of the film stars around whom he weaved thinly veiled "million dollar" tales of the gay and sordid sides of movieland.

BATES ACCUSES CALEXICO CHIEF

FRESNO, Dec. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—"My record is as clean as the day I took the oath of office as a policeman," declared D. P. Bates, Fresno police officer, who was arrested accused of attempting to assist David Poulin, fugitive, to escape into Mexico. The statement was received by the Fresno Morning Republican last night. Bates is now held in the El Centro jail.

Bates started to Fresno with Poulin, he declared, and near Banning, Poulin told him that the automobile Bates was to return and personal possessions of Poulin were across the line in Mexico. Bates had been told to return the car, he states, by Chief F. P. Truax of Fresno, and decided to go back, taking Poulin with him. Ignorance of international law caused him to cross the border, he said, where he was arrested by Mexican authorities and turned over to the constable at Calexico.

"I made no dicker with Poulin for his release and no man has enough money to make me break my oath as an officer," Bates said. Joseph L. Hardwick, chief of police of Calexico, is accused by Bates of making several attempts to hinder him in his work, and of giving him only part of the personal property belonging to Poulin. Instead of giving him an expensive diamond ring, three other rings, a watch, $15 in currency and a check, Bates says Hardwick gave him only two rings, the currency check and the watch. The rings were later declared by Poulin to be cheap imitations of the originals, according to the officer's statement.

NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK PROGRAM IS UNDER WAY

Oakland Committee Arranges Details of "Mastering Money Matters."

"Master money matters or they will master you," is the slogan which the Oakland Thrift Committee will endeavor to impress upon every individual in this city during the week which begins on Benjamin Franklin's birthday, January 17, and ends January 23. This will constitute the observance of National Thrift Week, which, under the direction of the Young Men's Christian Association, is held annually in virtually every city in the country.

Detailed plans for the coming Thrift Week program are under way today, as the result of a meeting held at the Puritas Cafe on Fifteenth street yesterday by the members of the Oakland Thrift Committee. Those present included Frank D. Meyer, cashier of the American Bank, chairman; and Arthur E. Caldwell, William Cavalier, R. H. Mouser, F. P. Porter, Hugh L. Hagan, William H. Barry, and A. G. Cushman.

STRESS DIFFERENT PHASES.
One each day of the week a different phase of "mastering money matters" will be stressed by the committee, in a campaign which, it is hoped, will reach every person in Oakland. The various days will be devoted, respectively, to showing the importance of banking one's money, keeping a household budget, maintaining a life insurance policy, owning one's own home, sharing with others, paying bills promptly, and making a will.

On "Budget Day," January 18, 1000 household budget books, prepared by the Y. M. C. A., will be distributed to as many Oakland families, under the direction of A. G. Cushman, General Secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., and William Cavalier, local investment banker.

OWN YOUR HOME DAY.
The program for "Own Your Own Home" Day will be conducted by F. P. Porter, President of the Oakland Real Estate Board. Two essay contests, in which prizes will be offered for the best essays on the importance of owning one's own home, will be run in connection with this day.

"Sharing With Others" Day will be observed on Sunday, January 21, under the direction of Hugh L. Hagan. On that day, it is planned, the ministers of the various churches in Oakland will speak from their pulpits on the topic, "Sharing With Others."

Besides those present at yesterday's meeting, the Oakland Thrift Committee includes Milton Mazor and Dan Reed.

WISCONSIN PLANS TO CUT SECRECY FROM INCOMES

Law Authorizing Surtax On All Land Values Over $10,000 in Prospect.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 28.—(By Associated Press).—Repeal of the secrecy clause to the state income tax law and of the provision which permits personal property tax to be offset against the income tax, a program of financing highway development and a law authorizing a surtax on all land values over $10,000, are among the measures to be submitted to the Wisconsin legislature which meets January 10.

Tax legislation heads the list of administration proposals. Besides supporting repeal of the foregoing clauses, Governor Blaine plans to strengthen the tax commission powers to investigate income tax reports of individuals and corporations. For the first time in eighteen years, the Blaine-LaFollette force will control the state.

The surtax measure is aimed at large, unimproved land holdings. The highway department is back of the proposal for taxes on gasoline, license fees and motor cars and trucks to contribute approximately $10,000,000 toward highway development and maintenance. The plan has been approved by the majority of counties.

Twenty-seven measures will be sponsored by organized labor, four of which attack the power of state courts. These are laws to prevent judges issuing injunctions in labor disputes, to curb the power of federal courts to hold laws unconstitutional, amendments to the state constitution which would give the supreme court.

COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH CENTER CHIEF RESIGNS

Harrison S. Robinson, Elected Head of Chamber of Commerce, Ends Term.

Because of the demands upon his time occasioned by his recent election as president of the Chamber of Commerce, Harrison S. Robinson has resigned the chairmanship of the executive committee of the Public Health Center of Alameda county and Joseph R. Knowland has been named in his place.

Robinson terminated a four-year chairmanship at a meeting of the executive committee yesterday and his resignation was adopted by resolution expressing the regret of the committee that he did not find himself in a position to continue his leadership of the health work.

The resolution follows: "Whereas, Harrison S. Robinson, during the four years of his chairmanship of the Executive Committee of the Public Health Center of Alameda County has, by his energy and devotion of its constructive guidance rendered an inestimable service to the cause of public health and preventive medicine; and

"Whereas, The pressure of important public affairs makes it necessary for him to resign as chairman of this committee; now therefore, be it

"Resolved, That in accepting the resignation of Robinson the members of the executive committee express their deep regret at losing so valuable a leader."

It was under the chairmanship of Robinson that the Public Health Center was organized four years ago and the institution gradually increased its scope until it was found necessary to erect a new building to accommodate the various activities. This building, the Ethel Moore Memorial, was formally dedicated this month.

The new chairman has been actively connected with the work of the committee for the last three years, has been a director of the Chamber of Commerce for many years and for the last four years has been chairman of the Oakland Chapter of the American Red Cross. To his efforts was attributed by the members a large measure of the success of the campaign for funds for the Ethel Moore Memorial as well as the general work of the Public Health Center and its fight against tuberculosis.

PARLEY CALLED

FOR PROJECTED NEW YOLO ROAD

U. S. Engineer Asks County Officials to Meeting in San Francisco.

WOODLAND, Dec. 29.—County Engineer Asa G. Proctor and Supervisors L. E. Hutchings, W. O. Russell, Frank Edson and William Leinberger left for San Francisco early this morning to meet this afternoon with Major U. S. Grant III of the United States engineers relative to the construction of a piece of country road across the top of Fremont weir, below Knights Landing, this county, and on the Sacramento river, the construction of which is to begin the first of the new year.

Major Grant wired Proctor yesterday that if the county desired a road across the 8000 foot weir it would have to act quickly as plans were about to be adopted preparatory to immediate work. If the Yolo board can get permission to construct this road it will provide direct, improved roads from Woodland to Sacramento and open up an entirely new country devoted to farming and orchard enterprises.

News Notes of Vallejo

And U. S. Navy Yard

VALLEJO, Dec. 29.—Officials of the Western Die Casting Company said today that the factory at Napa and Maryland streets will begin the manufacture of the castings of the new Winslow carburetor shortly after the first of the year. The carburetor is an invention of a local man. The plant now has forty-five men at work but it is said by the management that the force will soon be increased to at least 150. The company is to have a celebration shortly after the first of the year and will invite the residents of Vallejo to inspect the establishment. Quite a lot of new machinery has been installed in the month and the plant is one of the most modern of its kind in the state.

Assemblyman Frank Coombs of Napa county was the principal speaker at the weekly gathering of the Rotarians yesterday. He took as his topic "The Proposed Carquinez Straits Bridge." He said he was preparing a bill to be submitted at the next session of the legislature in reference to the bridging of the straits. According to Coombs, if the state is expected to build highways to the bridge, it should have some ownership in the bridge project.

The directors of Vallejo Center of the California Civic League will meet at the home of Mrs. C. S. Stenworth on January 4. Matters pertaining to the proposed erection of a modern clubhouse here in 1923 will be discussed.

Over 150 men are employed at the Sherry mill at South Vallejo, according to General Manager J. E. Godley. It is expected that the force will be increased in 1923, as the export business of the concern is increasing at present.

From all reports the New Year will receive a noisy reception here and at the navy yard. Most of the ships in commission at the yard will be down the straits for at least 10 minutes to greet the New Year. House parties are to be held in many of the Vallejo homes Sunday night. Pirochets and whistles will be sounded here by the merry-makers at midnight.

The sum of $40 was stolen from the store of Harry Ormstedt, 212 Georgia street, yesterday morning. The thief gained entrance to the establishment by means of the front door.

The Civic League will hold its next meeting on January 16. A musical program will be featured for the occasion, and will be in charge of Mrs. L. B. Williams.

Bids for the new city garage will be opened in January. The plans for the structure were completed this week by City Engineer T. D. Kilkenny and will be submitted to the City Council in a few days.

James Gaffney, who died here on Christmas Day, was a former navy yard employee. The funeral services were held at St. Vincent's church yesterday.

Council Deputy M. J. Hannigan will have charge of the installation of the new officers of Vallejo Council No. 13, Y. M. I., during the coming month. The grand officers are expected to attend.

The painters will complete their part of the contract at the Naval Y. M. C. A. during the coming month.

The city officials believe that both reservoirs in Wild Horse Valley will be filled to overflowing next year. Big streams of water are now flowing into the lakes as a result of the recent storm.

The directors of the Six Minute Ferry Company expect to make another payment to the stockholders in January. If a 40 per cent payment is made each stockholder will receive approximately $20 a share.

The low power wireless station at Mare Island will be placed out of commission on January 1. The radio experts from the station will be transferred to the high power plant with the decommissioning of the old station.

The new machinery is being installed in machine shop 31 at the local station. This shop will be in direct charge of the new canal. The contract is being handled by the public works department of Mare Island.

The steam hammer is being used at the yard again and will drive the remainder of the reinforced concrete piles for the new canal. The contract is being handled by the public works department of Mare Island.

The Rodman Club will hold a dance tonight at the station. A week from Friday night the hall will be decorated by the navy yard and Vallejo dance-lovers after the boxing smoker.

Sixty enlisted men and several officers will be taken south on the U. S. S. Cuyama. The men will join the ship at San Francisco this afternoon.

Commander C. S. Kerrick has been detached from duty at the navy yard and will be relieved Tuesday of next week. He will join the U. S. S. Beaver at Panama in February.

The board of inspection and survey for the Pacific coast inspected the big tanker Cuyama at the navy yard yesterday.

SENATOR'S EIGHT

BORAH PLEA FOR NEW CONFERENCE

Johnson Leads Opposition to Further Entanglement in Europe's Affairs.

war is, I think, a bit extravagant. It will be a long, long day before European troubles will cease to be war; and I think we may dismiss the threat of war from this discussion.

"The hat is held before our farmers that they will prosper if we will but confer on Europe's reconstruction, but the farmers have not been told the only reconstruction suggested involves us for generations in Europe's controversies. Aid the farmer! Not so! Aid the international banker! Yes! And the farmer will pay the price."

Holding aloft a volume of the speeches made by President Wilson during his tour in behalf of the League of Nations, Senator Johnson said passages of those speeches presented the same arguments as the contentions now made by Senator Borah and other advocates of an economic conference.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE OPPOSED BY KELLOGG

Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota, announced his opposition not only to the Borah proposal, but also to the House provision of the naval bill for another armament conference.

"It would be unwise to rush into another armament conference before the treaties of the last are ratified," Kellogg continued. "Another conference would only allow France to reopen the whole matter with the prospect that she never would ratify the treaties which have been concluded."

As to an economic conference, Kellogg expressed doubt whether the European nations yet were in a "mood which would insure beneficial results."

"When the European nations realize they are bankrupt and when they become willing to scale down their external and internal debts," he continued, "then it will be the time to call an economic conference."

The United States might participate "with profit" in a conference held under those circumstances, said Kellogg, adding that he thought the United States should agree to scale down its foreign debt in proportion to any reductions made by the European nations.

Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, another of the irreconcilable group, told the Senate he could not support the Borah proposal or any similar project "prior to a sincere effort on the part of Europe itself to better its own condition."

MOSES WOULD RECAST ILLIGIBLE BOUNDARIES

"The only conference which can ever be summoned to produce a satisfactory or efficient solution for the ills of Europe," declared Senator Moses, "is a conference composed of the powers signatory and adhering to the treaty of Versailles with the purpose completely to rewrite its provisions to eliminate the greed which marks its every progress, to re-cast the illogical and impossible boundaries."

The Borah proposal, he said, already has resulted in incalculable harm to Europe. "Warred and voracious peoples," he added, "egan visualize the United States as a geographic Christmas tree. They dream of more loans of huge sums without either security or maturity; and in imagination they are already spending our money, not for the relief of national suffering, but in preparation for more joy rides of imperialism, militarism and agrandement."

Policies pursued by both Great Britain and France since the war were criticised sharply by the senator, who contrasted these nations with Belgium—"the one nation of Europe which wholeheartedly has gone to work." France, he said, "has had no balance in the budget since 1870, has pyramided her public securities in an incredible amount and at the same time has provoked a condition wherein the tax dollar has become a hero."

PREDICTS SPREAD OF GREAT BRITAIN

Great Britain, speaking through her only remaining pro-consul," he continued, "has served notice that must remain in her possession while her prime minister synchronously expresses his horror at the thought of a French occupation of the Ruhr region. Meanwhile English capital, sometimes openly, but more often subterfugeously, has been taking possession of German port facilities and means of transportation; so that when English efforts, combined with misguided convictions in our own country, have swept the American flag from the ocean, we shall find the cross of St. George once more signaling not only mastery of the seas, but also a domination of the land which will completely handicap every nation that seeks to enter into fair competition."

Under such circumstances, said Moses, extension of financial relief would only cause an American "stream of gold to disappear into a rat hole whose labyrinthine run off into the highways of maintained armaments, unbridled nationalistic ambitions and unchecked militarism."

Moses also opposed American representation on the reparations commission, declaring that the United States thereby would be placed in the role of an umpire, and that he had "no desire to see Uncle Sam 'beaten' by a pop bottle thrown from the European bleachers."

BORAH STRIKES BACK AT IRRECONCILABLES

Senator Borah struck back at Senator Johnson and other irreconcilables opposing his plan, declaring that every "so-called irreconcilable" always had stood in favor of conferences, although against any permanent obligations such as the league would entail.

"If the situation in Europe is such that he can be disinterested and can escape the consequences of conditions there," said Borah, "then I can well understand the position of those who oppose any consideration of the situation. But it is such that the United States must be interested, not only from a humanitarian, but from an economic standpoint."

"I take it from the president's letter that that was conceded, that the president was giving careful consideration to the entire subject matter. I also understood from the Senator from Massachusetts (Lodge) that actual negotiations were going on as to how we could adjust those conditions."

Borah said his mind was open regarding procedure, but he believed open procedure was the best, declaring that "secret or diplomatic" conferences could not have attained the naval limitation results of the Washington conference, and that similar exchanges now on economic problems would be unavailing. The conference in Europe, which have failed, he declared, were not the character he proposed in which force of public opinion could be exercised.

"I have believed that the negotiations now going on," he said, "were designed to accomplish the same thing as I have proposed and that it was simply a difference of opinion as to the method."

Borah said he agreed with Senator Johnson that "adjustment of reparations was the key to the European situation," but added he could not follow that the United States escape the results of the crisis now facing Europe. Extension by the United States of an invitation for an economic conference would in no wise obligate the United States to underwrite the results, he declared, and in support of his assertion cited the Russo-Japanese peace conference and the second Hague conference, both called by President Roosevelt.

Answering those who have accused him of shifting his position on foreign affairs, Borah said he had stated repeatedly that "the American people were obligated to efforts for peace, and that he had objected only to a 'permanent' commitment to maintain peace in the future under whatever conditions might arise." This was the position of all irreconcilables, he said.

"The able senator from California (Senator Johnson) ridiculed the idea of conference," Borah continued, "but he was a candidate for vice-president on the Progressive ticket upon a platform which specifically endorsed conferences."

"I have never understood that a conference called to deal in a particular question was in contravention to our traditional national policy," Borah said. "Are we going to abandon all efforts to adjust economic conditions in Europe? Or is this just such a situation wherein the United States are directly affected, and it is necessary to act?"

"I believe it is possible to escape the consequences of the condition of Europe. We are part of them and must deal in them."

Borah cited statements made at Lausanne by American Ambassador Child, and declared the ambassador was not merely an "observer." The United States, he asserted, is actually and officially participating in the American reparations commission should be retained.

BY UNITED PRESS

PARIS, Dec. 29.—France today, through semi-official channels, advanced a suggestion whereby the proposal that President Harding call a world economic conference, can be given effect without the American President taking any further initiative.

It was pointed out that the plan of Senator Borah apparently is identical with the plan for a financial conference at Brussels next month, to which the United States has been invited.

The Brussels conference, the French say, presents an unequalled opportunity for the United States to make its voice heard in a world economic gathering.

PARIS PARLEY TO CONSIDER REPARATIONS

PARIS, Dec. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—As a result of exchanges of views, the allies have decided to go over the entire question of reparations at the Paris conference next Tuesday. It is expected that it will require at least a week and perhaps two weeks to complete the discussion.

The general situation in Germany, the possibility of putting her on her feet through an international loan, and a moratorium and estimates of the length of the moratorium necessary for her recovery, will probably be the first subjects discussed.

While the conference will go to the question of reducing the total of reparations due from Germany, it is thought in French official quarters that little will be accomplished further than the fixing of the moratorium and reaching a decision regarding guarantees.

Farm Bureau Holds Co-operation Meeting

HAYWARD, Dec. 29.—The first of a series of meetings by means of which it is planned to bring members of farm centers into closer contact with the board of directors of the Alameda County Farm Bureau, county agricultural agents and the University of California's extension agents was held at Mountain View last night. Agricultural agents of the district were discussed by center members with the board of directors of the bureau and agricultural agents.

R. G. Sprague, at present secretary of the San Luis obispo county farm bureau, and who will direct the completion of the Alameda county bureau membership drive, and H. H. Morrell, director of membership campaigns of the California farm bureau federation, attended last night's meeting. Russell T. Robinson, agricultural agent of the county, was also in attendance.

"Well, Tom, most people have reason to be cheerful at this time, but in my case it's different."

"This is most unusual. In fact you are in a bad way. And what's it all about, if I may ask?"

BILLION CREDIT

FOR GERMANY IS SENATE PROPOSAL

British to Take Bonds and France to Remit Part of Debt, Is Plan.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Extension of $1,000,000,000 in credit to Germany for the purchase of foodstuffs and raw materials in this country under the direction of the secretary of the treasury was proposed in a bill introduced in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Bursum, Republican of New Mexico, a member of the "farm bloc."

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Premier A. Bonar Law's new reparations plan reducing the amount of indemnity which Germany shall pay, was put up to the British cabinet today for its approval. It was understood the plan was approved and that it will be presented at the allied premier's conference in Paris next week with few changes.

BRITISH PROPOSALS

The Daily News said it understood the main outlines of the British proposals were as follows: 1—German indemnity would be scaled down to a figure Germany is able to pay with the most vigorous penalties in the event of default.

2—A moratorium for the next three or four years with reduced payments over a further brief period to assist Germany to recover industrially.

3—Germany to be offered favorable discount arrangements if she meets her obligations promptly.

4—Great Britain to take over a man's reparations bonds in payment of allied debts, possibly canceling a portion of the debts.

5—France to agree to partial remission of the debts due her from her allies.

6—Fifty billions of gold marks (about $12,000,000,000) mentioned as probably the total reparations to be required of Germany.

BRITISH MAY WITHDRAW

British experts will put the finishing touches on the British plan tomorrow, and the premier will leave for Paris with it Monday. Premier Bonar Law is hopeful there will be a final solution of the indemnity issue before the end of the next week. If not, the British will either withdraw from continental affairs, leaving France, Belgium and Italy to wrestle with Germany, or will seek assistance from the United States. In event of British withdrawal, the French would enter the Ruhr district immediately.

HAYWARD

HAYWARD, Dec. 29.—Should heavy rains continue to flood the land surrounding the Southern Pacific system's lower lines through Alameda and Mount Eden to Oakland, the company is, it was declared today by officials here, preparing to build levees and drainage canals to clear the tracks of water which yesterday made traffic over the line impossible. By last night the water had sufficiently subsided to permit trains over the lower route.

Yesterday morning trains regularly running from San Jose to Oakland through Newark, Alameda and Mount Eden had to be routed from Newark through Centerville, Niles and Hayward to Oakland. Thus a large number of commuters and approximately two carloads of milk had to be transported to points on the higher road for transportation into Oakland.

According to reports reaching here yesterday, portions of the lower lines were covered with four feet of water as the result of the drainage from the higher lands.

The chamber will occupy headquarters jointly with the Hayward Merchants' Equestrian Club, and it is possible that headquarters of the Hayward American Legion may also be established in the building. Closer cooperation between these civic organizations is expected to result from joint occupation of these headquarters.

The present rooms of the chamber will be occupied by the Alameda County Farm Bureau and the Hayward Boy Scouts.

Among the matrons who will attend the dance is Mrs. M. A. W. Lee, wife of M. A. W. Lee, secretary of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Lee, with Mrs. Hal P. Angus, Mrs. W. W. Haley and other Hayward women will act as patronesses at the dance.

DAIVAMN HOUT UNITHIWIEN JOE FOR MONEY PAID TO BUY PLANT

Claim Is Made Eastbay Milk Producers Taxed Members to Raise Fund.

Allegations that the Eastbay Milk Producers' Association taxed its members in order to raise a fund for purchasing a distributing plant in Oakland, and then abandoned the plan without returning the money, are contained in a suit filed today by two Alameda county dairymen, who demand return of $880.54 as their share of the fund.

The plaintiffs are Olinda Abram and Henry Grotto. They name as defendants H. D. Burch, manager of the association, and J. S. Costa, W. J. Hotchkiss and Fred Stensel as trustees of the fund, which, they assert, now amounts to about $80,000. The plaintiffs say the suit is filed in the interests of about forty other dairymen.

It was agreed among the members of the association in December, 1920, the plaintiffs assert, that the members should be taxed two cents for each gallon of milk they sold through the association, in order to raise a fund to purchase the Jersey Farm Milk and Butter company as a local distributing plant. They allege that this plan has been abandoned, and ask return of the money that has been raised.

Resinol

Never that out and see how it heals

Little cuts and scratches are aggravating and painful, and they can even become dangerous if infected. Prevent such a condition by cleansing the injured spot well, and then applying RESINOL OINTMENT. Its gentle antiseptic balsams soothe while they heal. A physician's prescription, and recommended widely—it is no longer an experiment to thousands who have used it successfully for various skin affections. At all druggists.

MARRIAGES IN CONTRA COSTA DROP IN YEAR

MARTINEZ, Dec. 29.—Dan Cupid must take to the mountains' bench unless he pilots an unprecedented number of marriageable couples to the county clerk's office in the next two days.

In the year just closing Cupid led but 420 couples to the license bureau against 453 last year, records of County Clerk J. H. Wells disclosed today.

And while Cupid slumbered on the job divorce suits, suits for separate maintenance and annulment of marriages piled up to the unprecedented total of 182 cases last year there were 161 divorce suits. Divorce suits and actions closely akin represent approximately 35 per cent of the total number of suits instituted in this year.

DIAGNOSIS IN MILL UPROAR AS ONE AIDS ARBUCKLE

"Throw Him Out" Yell L. A. Ministers When Speaker Raps Them.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Roscoe Arbuckle, recently "narrated" by Will H. Hays, will appear in person at a New York music hall when two of his new comedies are shown on New Year's eve. The music hall is the first place in this city to show the round comedian's films since the ban was lifted.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—A mass meeting called by the Los Angeles Committee for the Better Films to discuss the return of Roscoe Arbuckle, comedian, to the screen, was thrown into uproar when Evangelist Cuddy, head of a mission, attempted to enter into the debate on the side of Arbuckle. Interrupted by cries of "sit down," "throw him out!" and "fanatic," Cuddy accused the ministers of Los Angeles of meddling in affairs outside their province when they condemned Will H. Hays, chief of the film industry, for his action in removing the ban on Arbuckle. He appealed to the churchmen to "shake themselves from the mire" and, when his hecklers grew more boisterous, asked them to listen to him "as a representative of Jesus Christ."

Upon suggestion of the Rev. R. P. "Bob" Shuler, president of the Ministerial Union, Cuddy finally was granted three minutes in which to present his views. Interrupted, after which the meeting peacefully but almost unanimously adopted a resolution protesting against the return of Arbuckle as "tending to lower the standard of right living among the young of our country."

HAYS SCORES PREJUDICE
KANSAS CITY, Dec. 29.—The spirit of America must not tolerate an arraying of race against race, racial animosity or religious prejudice, Will Hays, director general of the motion picture industry, declared at a banquet of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity convention here last night.

Guard against this as you would guard against a pestilence," he admonished. "The country has no greater enemy than one who would thus divide the country against itself. Mere agitation and mere motion are not progress. Remember that one man is better than a million only when he behaves himself better. Give every well-behaved man his equality, and require from his full share of accountability." Hays asserted in an address today to the Women's City Club that Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle probably will not appear in any motion picture, but will be given an opportunity to direct film productions.

BIRTH CONTROL SPREAD SLOWS UP POPULATION

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—The steady progress of birth control was given as one of the causes of a decrease in the rate of increase of the population of the United States by Dr. Warren S. Thompson of the Scripps Foundation for Population Research at Miami University, Oxford, O., in an address today before the American Statistical Association. The same cause was assigned as one of the reasons for the slower rate of increase among the rural population. In each instance, birth control was, however, given as the last of several causes.

The world war and its disturbing effects, virtual cessation of immigration, emigration to Europe of former immigrants and birth control were listed.

Woman Injured By Fall in R. R. Yards

RICHMOND, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Anna Giddens of Pasadena sustained scratches and bruises on her face as a result of a fall Wednesday night in the Southern Pacific yards here after alighting from a southbound train. Mrs. Giddens was on her way from Marysville to visit the family of her nephew, E. E. Grow. While crossing the tracks toward the depot she believes that she tripped over one of the rails. Betrothal of Tri Delt Told at Family Dinner

A family dinner on Christmas Day was the occasion of the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Alice Hay Harris, Delta Delta Delta, and William Potterfield Crandall, University of California graduate.

Miss Harris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Harris Jr., of this city and was a former student at the University of California where she was active in campus affairs. The announcement dinner was made at the home of Mrs. L. A. Crandall in Berkeley, the home of the bridegroom to-be's mother.

Crandall is in business in this city. No plans as yet have been made for the wedding.

Cards bearing the names of Miss Maybelle Esther Bangs and Kenneth Newton Cundall have been received by friends in the mails this week. Miss Bangs is a daughter of Mrs. Lorenz A. Bangs of Clement avenue and is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hodgkins of Piedmont and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pangburn.

Cundall will receive his sheepskin from Stanford University in June with the degree of chemical engineer. He is an Alpha Chi Sigma. He is a brother of Roland Cundall who married Dr. Emma Paulsmeier this year.

At nine o'clock last evening in St. John's Presbyterian church, Miss Louise Bonner plighted her troth to William Clifford Reese, several hundred friends from both sides of the bay witnessing the service. For the bride party and immediate friends and kinsfolk, a reception to nearly a hundred guests was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dornin of Encina Place.

Miss Bonner was a beautiful bride in a gown of all white georgette beaded in crystal and pearls. She wore the usual veil of tulle with cap of real lace and orange blossoms circling the coiffure. A handsome bride's bouquet was of lilies of the valley, gardenias and orchids.

The wedding was unusual in the brilliant coloring of the gowns of the bride's attendants, in tones of orange, sky blue, jade and lemon yellow georgette. The attendants were Miss Mildred Elam, Miss Ruth McLaughlin, Miss Ruth Seymour and Miss Ann Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eric Whitmore sailed yesterday for the Orient to establish their home while the former is in the consular service.

Tomorrow, Miss Ethel Bee Handley of Piedmont will become

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eric Whitmore sailed yesterday for the Orient to establish their home while the former is in the consular service.

Tomorrow, Miss Ethel Bee Handley of Piedmont will become the bride of Edwin C. Wood of San Francisco. Only relatives and near friends are to be guests at the ceremony, which will be at the home of Mrs. Agnes P. Handley, the bride's mother. Vernon Handley is to be best man at his sister's wedding and Mrs. Roland Bender (Winifred Handley) will be matron of honor for her sister, Mrs. Miles Staples (Doris Handley) will be the other attendant upon the bride.

The new home of the couple is to be in Mill Valley, after a wedding trip spent in the southern part of the state.

TEA IN HONOR OF VISITOR

Miss Elsa Herget was hostess yesterday afternoon at the Frederick Dallam home in Vernon Heights in honor of Mrs. Horatio Harper (Marion Dallam), who is visiting her parents for the holidays from Los Angeles. Among the guests were Mrs. Harold Havre, Mrs. Herriot Small, Mrs. Edward Fennon, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Lloyd Vincent Roberts, Mrs. James Pratt, Mrs. Walter Avery, Mrs. Elvyn Stone, Mrs. George Grant, Mrs. Fitzgerald Marx and the Misses Margaret Noble, Helen Harris, Eleanor Campbell, Jean Howard, Esther Robbins, Margaret Howard, Caroline Rodolph, Martha Gallagher, Dorothy Potter, Lois Turner and Elizabeth Moore.

Mrs. James Miller of Fruitvale will be hostess tomorrow afternoon at a children's party, games and dancing to be the diversion. The guests will be Isabella Frost, Marjorie Speen, Janet and Caroline Bormanian, Urabelle Cody, Jack Frost, Odin Speen Jr. The mothers of the children will also be guests assisting at the affair.

Oakland Girl and Taft Man Married

WOODLAND, Dec. 29.—A marriage license was issued Wednesday at Colusa to Thomas Patrick McDermott of Taft, Kern county, and Miss Evelyn Enos of Oakland. The couple were married in Colusa and left immediately for the south where they will make their future home.

Professor William Morris Davis of Harvard maintains that the issues of right and wrong belong to the field of science.

Bay University Women Open Clubhouse

By EDNA B. KINARD.

San Francisco Bay Branch, American Association of University Women, are losing no time in launching the year in their new headquarters, although the household is not yet in running order. The International Relations section of which Miss Helen W. Peckham is chairman, and Mrs. Elwood B. Meads, vice chairman, has seized the privilege of opening the San Francisco clubrooms at the first session of 1923, summoning its members to an interesting program on Tuesday afternoon next.

Miss Ida Isham, a graduate of the University of California, who has been spending the past five years or so in India, will be greeted as guest of honor by her fellow university women. She will relate for some of her experiences and conclusions reached while she resided in that interesting land as a member of the staff of one of the important colleges.

The university women are planning a formal reception to open the attractive rooms which will house their activities for the coming few years.

Restricting guests to their own membership, Twentieth Century Club women have a varied program in prospect for Tuesday afternoon of the coming week. They will give attention to their own affairs by considering a budget presented by Mrs. Louis Engler and receiving announcements of the section chairmen of their future plans. They will extend interest to their sisters in listening to the plan for the erection of a Woman's Building by San Francisco Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Harry Schuler, the speaker. They will consider the laws affecting the rights of married women and what is proposed through the community property bill to be introduced next month in the state legislature. Mrs. Aaron Schloss, a former president, will review the bill which has been prepared by the California Bar Association.

A chime party is announced while the program is in progress. Oakland New Century Club will inaugurate 1923 on Friday, January 5, with an all-day meeting in the Fifth and Peralta streets clubhouse, Mrs. J. W. Brace, president, presiding. The business session will be called at 11 a. m. Adjournment will be taken for the luncheon, which will be prepared by a special committee of members. The afternoon will be given over to discussion of the important task in which these women are engaged in a neighborhood composed largely of those who have been born in other lands.

The death this week of Mrs. Frances Chalfant, wife of Dr. C. W. Chalfant, cast shadows on the holiday festivities of those organizations with which she was actively identified. Although in poor health for several months, Mrs. Chalfant had not given over any of the philanthropies in which she was so deeply interested. A sudden heart attack yesterday morning culminated almost immediately in her death.

Mrs. Chalfant was a member of the Oakland Club. This year she has been acting as secretary for the Oakland New Century Club. She has also been a leader in the affairs of the West Oakland Home.

Because the week following the holidays is apt to be a strenuous one, the Home Club has put over the opening program of the new year to Thursday evening, January 11. At this time, Truxa Isabelle Mouser will give a reading; Ilana J. Clark will contribute a group of songs, and Marion Stone will appear in fancy dancing. Dancing and cards will follow the short program.

College girls, directed by Catherine Urner, will be featured in a program of songs at the luncheon which is announced for January 13.

Say you saw it in The TRIBUNE.

HEARRON CITED FOR CONTEMPT

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—W. F. Herron, attorney acting in the defense of ten self-admitted members of the I. W. W. on trial here, charged, by violating the California criminal syndicalism act, has been cited in contempt of court here by Superior Judge Malcolm C. Glenn. Herron was ordered to appear next Wednesday morning.

Herron was cited after he had attacked the character of W. E. Townsend, member of the Los Angeles police department and former member of the I. W. W., who is the chief witness of the prosecution. Addressing the jury, Herron charged that Townsend had participated in more than fifty hold-ups for which he had never been prosecuted, adding that had the deputy prosecuting attorney "known what kind of a man Townsend is, he never would have secured him as a witness."

TRACY LIONS ASK FOR GUARD RAIL ON LINCOLN ROAD

Agitation For Highway Project System Also Started
By Organization.

TRACY, Dec. 29.—Proposals to place white guard fences on either side of the Lincoln highway between Banta and Paradise cut, and to install modern telephones in Tracy, and also a service talk by Dr. Allan R. Powers, were features of the Wednesday noon luncheon meeting of the Tracy Lions club.

President H. M. Schaar called the attention of the club to the fact that the highway from Banta to the river had been built on an embankment to avoid the danger of flooding in case of high water. He said that this section was rather narrow and dangerous especially on dark or foggy nights, and proposed that the State Highway Commission be asked to build a low fence on guard rail along each side of it, of the height adapted to touring an automobile wheel back into the road as well as catching the eye. Upon motion a resolution was ordered sent to the commission requesting that such a guard fence be placed along that portion of the highway.

N. S. Pressy, an automobile man, objected to the old style telephones. The belief was expressed that the telephone business was now large enough in Tracy for the modern telephones and switch-board to be installed. A committee consisting of N. S. Pressy, A. R. Arnold and L. L. Wilson was appointed to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations in securing the new phones.

The charity committee reported that only three families had been found in all Tracy who might be especially in need of Christmas cheer. Each of these were given clothing and other appropriate gifts.

Wilcox, local weather observer. In a storm lasting ten hours 1.27 inches of rain fell, Wilcox records show.

"Had been troubled all my life with acne on my face. My forehead was a mass of pimples. They were hard, large and red, and the itching was most terrible. My face was disfigured. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using them got instant relief. I bought more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and Ointment my face was healed." CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

EVERY so often an amusing story emanates from the press department of some New York producer. Frequently it is intended as serious literary effort and infrequently, as is the case with the current product, it is intended for laughing purposes only.

Now it is the publicity director for A. H. Woods, who comes forth with the announcement that his principal has become impressed with the Shakespearean idea and is planning a series of novel productions. The partial list of contemplated presentations is given as follows:

John Cumberland in "Timon of Athens," electrical effects by Steinmetz, mechanical appliances by Henry Ford, scenery designed and built by the Thompson-Starrett Construction Company; Louis Mann and Sam Bernard in "Two Noble Kinsmen"; Sidney Blackmer as Shylock, Gilda Grey as Portia and Woods himself as Bassanio in "The Merchant of Venice."

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Nance O'Neill opens her special engagement at the Macdonough Theater tonight in "The Jewess." At Fischer's in San Francisco "The Geocor" continues at the attraction.

"In association with the Messrs. Shubert and Abe Erlanger, a modern version of 'As You Like It,' entitled 'Take It or Leave It,' in association with John Golden a series of 'Clean Scenes from Shakespeare' with Macbeth's old mother at the organ. Mrs. Macbeth is now 127 years old and slightly crippled with rheumatism and blindness but Mr. Wood says Mr. Golden considers her ideal for their enterprise whose motto will be 'Heart Throbs'.

"Guinevere Kerr as Falsdaff in 'The Merry Wives of Windsor,' Partner Bernard and Alexander Carr in a by-product of 'Hamlet,' entitled 'Rosenkrantz and Guildenstern,' adapted by Montague Glass and Louis Untermeyer, Frank Tinney in 'King Lear,' adapted for the American stage by Samuel Shipman; Bayard Veiller, Eugene Walter, Martha Brown, Avery Hopwood and others may also present a modern version of 'Faust' entitled 'So This Is Hell,' with Ernest Truax as Mephisto, Hazel Dawn as Marquerite and Charles Ruzales as Faust."

Bill Told the Sexton and the Sexton Told the Bell

Living himself of some sort of opinion and is planning a New Year's party for the neighbors through the medium of "The Gold Diggers." Only one thing. It was the only ham on the route of the Famous Georgia Minstrels boasting real opera chairs in the opera house.

"The seat sale for the Minstrels has been exceptionally heavy. The auditorium was upended over the village school and in order to reach it you had to go over a stile and push cows out of your way for the school was placed right in the center of the village. Wherefore, in the course of time the opening night of the engagement arrived.

Forty Seasons Ago Today

Rumors are being bruited about that Frank Daniels and Jennie Yeamans of the Jollities Combination are engaged to wed.

"At 8 o'clock I stationed myself at the door of the theater. Up rushed a freckle-faced youth. 'Ticket,' I demanded. 'I tell the bell,' he responded. 'What do you tell me?' I parried, endeavoring to be facetious. 'No, no. I tell the bell,' he reiterated. Whereupon I made a pronouncement. 'You'll tell no bell without a ticket. This is a theater, not a school house.' 'So the boy went off. Time passed in like fashion. Soon it was 8:30. Still no customers. It seemed strange, as the tickets were all sold. I sought out the matter. Why, nobody ever comes to the theater until the bell is tolled. Then they know the show is ready,' he said.

"Well, sir, I tolled that bell myself, but it wasn't a symptom of what I told Bill Russo about being so all-fired smart."

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

The Snow African pictures have concluded a successful engagement at the Century Theater in San Francisco and are in process of being shown in the city. According to Colonel William McStay, who is officiating as general press agent for the distributors. Where and when the pictures will be offered has not yet been decided.

Charles Gilpin, the negro actor, who comes in "The Emperor Jones" to the Auditorium soon, made his New York debut, as the slave in "Abraham Lincoln." It was through his work in this small part that he achieved fame.

MAN FINED $500 FOLLOWING NAPA MOONSHINE RAID

Complete Fifty-Gallon Outfit Seized by Sheriff in Dry Creek Section.

NAPA, Dec. 29.—A fifty-gallon still of modern construction and other equipment, representing a complete moonshine plant, were seized in a raid conducted by Sheriff Harris at the Max Schulte place in the hills in Dry Creek section. The raid was made on the strength of a clew Sheriff Harris picked up recently.

Schulte was fined $500 in the justice court here yesterday for the offense.

Schulte was absent, but his wife, the officers declared, admitted her husband was the owner and operator of the illicit rum manufacturing outfit.

The still was warm when the officers began their examination of it, indicating that it had just been in use. A demijohn containing twenty gallons of "jackass" brandy freshly made, and about 500 gallons of corn and sugar mash, further indicated that the plant had been active a short time previous to the arrival of the officers, they declare.

SONOMA

SONOMA, Dec. 29.—County officials who received diminished pay checks last month and have the same pay reduction in view again this month, expected that the first of the year would bring them relief, but according to County Auditor A. THE BORAH PROPOSAL.

Senator Borah is forever shooting skyrockets. He has a firm belief in the spectacular as a means of attracting attention and, apparently, cares not one bit that the things he engineers into space are filled with smoke.

The suggestion that the United States call an international economic conference to settle the affairs of Europe is typical of the Borah methods. For a pronounced isolationist to come out with such a scheme was to treat dramatic. There was a fine flurry and sweep of pyrotechnics—and then the smoke came down.

Senator Borah neglected to consider the fact that the United States is denied the power to act in the way he suggested and that Congress, itself, is responsible for the restrictions. In ratifying the peace treaty, as President Harding pointed out in his letter to the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, the Senate made a reservation that this country should not be represented on the reparations commission without consent of Congress, and no such consent has been given. In creating the World War Debt Funding Commission that body was restricted to terms for rates of interest and the ultimate time for payments. When Congress decides to aid in the settlement of reparations questions its first task would seem to be the freeing of the hands of the commission.

There are other things the Idaho senator did not consider. The propriety of a Senator's assumption that the President and Secretary of State were not considering the foreign situation is to be questioned when it is shown the Senator did not so much as make inquiry of the State Department as to what was being done. "Of necessity," President Harding says, "the communications of the department relative to delicate matters cannot be bulletined from day to day, but the situation is never withheld from members of Congress who choose to inquire for confidential information in a spirit of cooperation."

The President and the State Department know this country is without the power to act in a conference of the kind Senator Borah proposes. They know the countries of Europe are still far from agreement and that any such gesture as this could bring no more than a general disappointment and the postponement of opportunity.

The proposal of Senator Borah's for the limitation of smaller naval craft is consistently in line with his habit of disregarding practicality in an effort to attract attention to himself. Otherwise, why talk of limiting smaller craft before the treaty for the limitation of the tonnage of ships is not yet signed?

SOME REAL WEALTH.

Close to $10,000,000 fell from the Christmas tree into the hands of the walnut growers of California. The sum, probably, will amount to much more for the figures are those of the growers' association only. An idea of the magnitude of the industry is obtained from the fact the California Walnut Growers, in their first pool only, sent checks to 42 subsidiary associations for distribution to the growers, and that this $10,000,000 fund represents that pool only.

Naturally, Contra Costa county has received a large part of the returns, for last year there were 265 tons of nuts shipped from that district, nuts which tested 97 per cent in the register of excellence. The associations of growers annually turn over millions of dollars. California has become accustomed to the astounding totals in which the raisin, prune, and apricot growers deal. One of the most rapidly developing of the fruit industries at present is that which will market the fig in increasingly large quantities. It is one which will add to the wealth of the San Joaquin valley and will make Merced known over the world.

Alameda county is fortunate in raising many crops. While it is widely known as a manufacturing district there should be no underestimation of its wealth in agricultural and mineral products. Our cherries, apricots, walnuts, peaches, lemons, oranges, plums and strawberries represent more money than many factories combined. They, and the many other crops, are attracting newcomers here every day and stand as a solid and silent background for prosperity.

A TIMELY REMINDER.

The policy of the local committee which is furthering the interests of the Community Chest in Oakland of notifying the public that such a drive is in prospect is a wise one. The time for calling attention to the plans of this city is now, before the first of the year, and in season to allow for their inclusion in the budgets of the various firms.

There is a Community Chest campaign in San Francisco and there will be one here. A problem which has always presented itself to the Oakland organizations which have raised money for the support of welfare work is that of the Oakland branches of some of the San Francisco houses. It is found, often, the full amount of money which the company may give to charity is given on the other side of the bay.

The never realization is that any firm doing business here as a branch house or otherwise is a part of the community life. Its problems and Oakland's are in common and its obligations to the city are as well defined as those of the city toward it. Those in charge of the Community Chest campaign for Oakland have pointed this out in time to avoid a situation which has worked against the fullest expression of welfare endeavor in this city.

Statistics from cities where the Community Chest has been tried out offer much of interest and for encouragement. In Cleveland the goal for the fund was set at $3,763,545 and there was raised $3,828,664. This means a per capita contribution of $1.80. St. Paul endowed its chest with $523,000; San Diego, with $150,000 and Denver with $219,000, with per capita amounts of $2.22, $2 and .80 cents, respectively. With money which amounts to 87 cents from each inhabitant Milwaukee raised for charitable work for the year $100,000, and has the satisfaction of knowing this fund is on hand, there will be no series of drives, and the needed program will be carried out. A remarkable record was made by Rochester, N. Y., a city of about the size of Oakland and where $1,207,400 was turned into the chest. Minneapolis and Cincinnati beat the million mark and Detroit contributed $2,310,000.

What other cities are doing Oakland will do. With an understanding of what the Community Chest idea means in efficiency and protection as well as in eliminating the endless drives which have taxed patience and, in some cases, aroused suspicion, the city will be glad to put its welfare work on a business-like basis. In the knowledge that each dollar is to go farther more money will be contributed.

Take account of the Passion Players of Oberammergau. They are in dire straits, said by some of the accounts to be starving, but they steadfastly refuse the offers of American film makers to stage their great play for film purposes. They could get enough to make them all rich if they would do so. Their distress is laid to the depreciation of the mark. After deducting costs they realized but $5000 for their recent season. In 1910 the receipts were $350,000. They won't yield to the film offer because it would violate their traditions and stultify their consciences. How many communities anywhere act on such an hypothesis?

Pirates are boarding booze ships off the Philippines. Yes, yes, yes, and a battle for rum!

WORK FOR SHIP CANAL.

Pacific commerce within the next few years will take precedence over Atlantic business, according to Captain Robert Dollar of San Francisco, one of the largest steamship owners in the United States.

The meritorious, in an address before the Oakland chamber of commerce, advised the business men of that city to prepare for the future. Captain Dollar, ten years ago, in order to demonstrate the possibilities of Sacramento as a deep-water port, dispatching a cargo laden ocean vessel to this city. As the vessel sailed its way through the tortuous channel of the river, its funnel emitting volumes of smoke, and finally docked below the M street bridge, it was greeted by local civic bodies and an immense concourse of citizens. Enthusiasm ran high and the event was heralded over the United States.

The proposed ship canal immediately became a vital issue and the prospects of Sacramento as a great center, where ship and rail would meet for transfer of valley products to foreign countries, were widely discussed.

However, the project languished, and except for a few far-seeing citizens like Herman Davis, who, realizing the immense development at stake, have ceaselessly favored the project, it has been shelved. There is no other single proposition which holds forth the possibilities latent in the proposed ship canal. Portland, with a hinterland which does not measure up to the capacity of the Sacramento valley, and which is equidistant from the Pacific with Sacramento, has developed into a city in excess of 250,000. Portland has its Columbia river and Sacramento has its Sacramento river. The Columbia river has been made navigable for ocean vessels and the Sacramento river has been neglected.

It may be admitted that conditions are not in all ways similar, but such admission does not in the least qualify the fact that a ship canal is entirely feasible, financially and physically.

If, during the coming year some direct steps could be taken toward securing this vital need, the prospects of Sacramento becoming one of the largest ports on the Pacific coast would be assured. Sacramento Union.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Christian Science Monitor: "Several notable features marked the closing sessions in Washington of the lectures conference on public opinion and world peace, held under the auspices of the International Lyceum and Chautauqua association. Not the least of these was the presentation of the Near East situation by Dr. Herbert Adams Gibbens, who argued that the time had come for the United States to assert its moral leadership of the world. They say this is the way to send back into taxable productive enterprises surplus capital now fleeing from the confederate tax collector into the shelter of tax exempt securities. But it is not the way. It will not cure the trouble so long as the taxation evinces and abuses continue."

New York World: "It is of no small importance to anybody that Latty Arbuckle should return to the screen with the approval of William Fox. If there were an overwhelming popular demand for Arbuckle he could return without anybody's consent; if the public doesn't want him, no amount of official blessing will make it profitable for him to come back."

JUST FOLKS

RICHER THAN BEFORE.
We've had our share of sorrows
And we've had our time of fear.
We have waked to sad tomorrows
But we've lived another year;
And in spite of all the grieving
And the burdens that we bore,
The old year's truly leaving
Us all richer than before.

We are wiser now and kinder
Than we were when it began,
We are just a little blinder
To the petty faults of man;
And when days of trouble found us,
Sending sorrow to our door,
To the friends who gathered round us
We are closer than before.

To the old and tried and true friend,
With the passing of the year,
Came a good and happy new friend
With his comfort and his cheer;
Though our fortune doesn't show it
As we run our bank book o'er,
In many ways we know it
We are richer than before.

We have memories to treasure
All unknown a year ago,
Little sparkling gems of pleasure
Which forever we may know;
At the end of December,
With the twelve months almost o'er,
We have much we shall remember
And we're richer than before.

THE GREAT PYRAMID.

As to the Great Pyramid of Giza, volumes have been written about it, and dozens more could be written. There is not one single stone or measurement in the whole titanic edifice that does not seem to point to a scientific purpose, although that purpose continues a dispute.

This much is certain: Whoever built the pyramid knew a lot more in many ways than do our modern

It is the only building in the world that is oriented exactly to the four points of the compass. Its measurements, extended, give the weight of the world in tons and the mean distance between the earth and sun in miles. It has an exact fraction of the diameter of the earth from pole to pole—to be exact, the ten-millionth part of the earth's semi-axis. It stands within a few feet of the exact center of the earth's habitable area, and in all likelihood is only those few feet out of space because the rock on which it stands is necessary to its foundations. Its descending passage points upward exactly toward the Pole Star. Its inside temperature is exactly the mean between the boiling and freezing points of water at that level. Its dimensions are said to solve the problem of the squaring of the circle; and, strangely enough, it appears to establish the scientific basis of the English gallon measure and the English inch, as against the so-called metric measure.

The great offer, which was the only thing ever found inside the pyramid, was a small jar of oil, and a scroll containing the names of the builders, as those of the Jewish Ark of the Covenant.—Adventure Magazine.

HOW EMOTION SLOWS UP DIGESTION.

According to Lea, the "ordeal of rice," as employed by a religious sect in India, was a practical application of the principle that worry or fear inhibits or prevents the flow of saliva. Of a number of persons under suspicion, the one who ejected the consecrated rice dry, upon the sacred fig leaf after chewing for a certain time, was adjudged guilty.

Too well do you and I, at least I, know how the lips and mouth go dry and the tongue cleaves to the palate when one is suddenly called upon to make a few remarks in public. Public speaking is a thing for which no man's mouth waters.

Pawlow allowed one of his dogs to gaze upon and smell his favorite food; the flow of gastric juice in the stomach pouch at once commenced. Then a hated cat was intruded upon the scene and the dog went into a great rage, whereupon both the cat and the gastric secretion disappeared and neither could be traced back into the picture for a considerable time.

A little boy with a stomach fistula of accidental origin produced a free flow of gastric juice when allowed to chew some food. But if he was annoyed in any way while eating no gastric juice was secreted at all, even though he went on eating. X-ray observation in both animals and man has shown that the peristaltic movement of the digestive tract ceases for even a longer time after emotional excitement of an unpleasant kind.

The heaviness or distress felt in the stomach, when one is under great anxiety is probably due to such a delay in digestion, called food stasis—the food stays right there.

Even in an anesthetized subject, as Dr. Crile has pointed out, irritation of a sensory nerve, though not felt by the unconscious subject, such irritation as would cause pain in a conscious subject—abolishes the peristaltic movements of the stomach. This again means delayed digestion—food stasis.

Pain anywhere in the body interferes with digestion. Severe pain will produce nausea or vomiting. Frequent or recurring pain will obviously set up "nervous dyspepsia." So will a bad conscience, worry, fear, anger, hatred, jealousy and business anxiety. A "sickening pain" is a common expression. "Sick headache" may produce nausea and vomiting—an instance of pain inhibiting or preventing digestion.

DAVIS FARM, U. C. DIVORCE IS OPPOSED

Agricultural Committee Sends Adverse Report to Governor After Inquiry of Plans For Segregation

Recommendation that the college of agriculture and the farm school at Davis shall remain "one and indivisible" with the University of California, and that there shall be no division between the two, is made in the report of the commission on agricultural education, which was submitted to Governor Stephens last Wednesday. The report also recommends the purchase of additional land for agricultural college use at Berkeley.

The commission was appointed as a result of the movement launched during the last legislative session by farmers' representatives favoring separation of the institutions.

MADE LONG INQUIRY.
The finding of the commission, as set forth in its report, which fills a hundred pages, is the more interesting as it was reached after the commission had held hearings throughout the state, and had traveled throughout the United States visiting and inspecting agricultural colleges attached to state universities, as well as independent agricultural colleges and institutions.

Following its recommendation that the college and farm school remain under the control of the university, the commission reports that it has found that there exists a unanimous sentiment in these parts where the university and the college are co-related, as well as where they are not, that the two should not be separated.

At the same time, the commission recommends that the university farm shall receive every possible consideration, in order that it may become one of the largest and most important agricultural educational institutions in the country.

RECOMMENDS MORE LAND.
In making its recommendation for the purchase of additional land at Berkeley, the commission states that such extension is an absolute necessity for the proper development of the college. The commission is not to take any work to Berkeley which is now being done at Davis, but to make more effective and to enlarge the scope of the work now being accomplished at Berkeley.

The chairman of the board, A. C. Hardison of Santa Paula, declared: "As a result of our travels and investigations we found the college of agriculture of the University of California equal to, or better than the other colleges of the United States, but we need more live stock and more buildings."

The commission does not advise the establishment, as yet, of other branches of the college in other parts of the state, and it is felt that

This matter is now receiving the attention of the Navy Department, and no decision will be made for the time being. However, your communication will be given most careful consideration."

The college at Berkeley and Davis can care for all the students for many years. In discussing the demand from Southern California for the establishment of an agricultural school, the commission feels that the matter should be left to another commission, which was appointed to choose a site for the proposed branch college in the southern part of the state, during the last session of the legislature. Thus far, no recommendation of any kind has been made by that commission, however.

50,000 LICENSE PLATES FOR 1923 AUTOISTS READY

A corps of clerks are busily engaged at the local branch of the State Motor Vehicle Department, 1425 Harrison street, today, checking over the first shipments of 1923 license plates, which recently arrived in this city and will be distributed to motorists on January 15.

The first shipment consisted of 50,000 licenses for pleasure cars alone in addition to numerals for automobile trucks, motorcycles and trailers.

This will be the biggest automobile year in the history of California, officials at the motor vehicle department predicted today, and some one million cars will be registered.

White numerals on a black background is the color scheme of the 1923 plates. The figures are evenly distributed on each side of the center of the plate which shows the name of the state and the year of registration. The figures and date are enclosed in a white border about one-quarter of an inch wide.

The new plates will be very easily distinguished and the license numerals easy to read at quite a distance. A motor car owner without a new license will be adjudged delinquent on February 1.

U. S. Army May Face Shortage of Horses

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—The United States Army is confronted with a shortage of horses, says a communication from Major-General Robert C. Davis, adjutant-general of the army, received at Ninth Corps Area headquarters yesterday. The communication is to the effect that 2445 serviceable horses are to be transferred by the War Department from the regular army to the National Guard by July 1, 1923.

In order to meet this situation ten per cent of the horses within the various corps areas will have to be released. Before making any inroads on the horses assigned to tactical organizations consideration will first be given to taking as many animals as possible now assigned to posts and stations, replacing them where necessary with mules.

OAKLAND IS NOW FIRST IN GIVING WORK

Most Prosperous City in the State, According to Figures
Given by Federal Bureau
On Year's Employment

Oakland is the most prosperous city in California, if the record of the Federal Employment Bureau for the twelve months ending November 20 is to be taken as the criterion. Walter G. Matheson, Federal director of the United States Employment Service for the State, in a report today called attention to the fact that Oakland had shown a gain of 36 per cent over the number of persons employed a year ago. Los Angeles was second with a gain of only 18.7 per cent.

The figures disclosed that 56 firms in Oakland were employing on November 30, 3536 more persons than on November 30, 1921.

The 130 firms reporting for San Francisco showed only an increase of 44 wage earners for the same period or an increase of 4.9 per cent.

INCREASE IN STATE.

The increase of wage earners in the whole state was found to be 18 per cent. The figures for the state show that in 33 industries on November 30 there were employed 107,724 as against 91,267 a year ago.

The chemical industry reports 3635 more wage earners, mostly of oil refining. The metal industry as a whole reports a net increase of 3329, but to do this had to overcome a loss of 1592 in shipbuilding. Lumber and timber products follow with an increase of 1264; cement, glass and clay products with 1556, automobiles with 1364, and miscellaneous industries with 806.

LOSS IS SMALL.

Outside of the cities of Oakland, Los Angeles and San Francisco the increase of workers in 232 firms was 21.7 per cent.

The increases over the various industries was fairly even, the only big increase being in saw mills and logging camp work. Mineral oil refining also showed a good increase. There were losses in only a few industries.

First Elementary School Group O. K.'d

BERKELEY, Dec. 29.—The first group of applications for the enrollment of pupils in the University Elementary school for the spring term was approved yesterday by school authorities and notification sent to the parents of the children. According to Principal George B. Kye, since the agreement between the University of California and the board of education of the city of Berkeley with respect to the enrollment in the classes in this school place, limitations on the number of pupils per teacher, only such applicants could be notified where there were openings for additional pupils in several of the grades. In classes where the maximum enrollment had been reached, additional applications could not be considered.

The notice of approval which the parents received contained this paragraph: "In order to be certain that there is no reason why it will be impossible for your child to attend, will you please notify us in writing by Monday of next week with respect to your intentions. If we have not heard from you by Tuesday morning we will assume that your child is not going to attend next year and will, therefore, notify someone else on our waiting list."

The second group of applications including in all probability those received within the next few days and those already on hand where possible vacancies may occur will be considered next Tuesday afternoon.

Seven Are Held for Alleged $100,000 Thefts

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Two additional arrests were made by the police early today in connection with the uncovering of a gang of burglars, who are said to have obtained $100,000 worth of loot in the past four months. Five supposed members of the band were arrested by the police at an early hour, one of them following a running gun fight with Detective Irving Findley. Those in custody are:

Dillard Porter, colored; Robert Filtek, 1404 Ellis street; William Siegman, hotel runner at the Ferry building; Albert Young, alias Moon; Mrs. Albert Young; George Bennett and Mrs. Florence Grant.

The police say that the gang cleaned up $100,000 during their activities operating from the Ellis street house.

When the officers surprised them Porter fled, but was caught on Franklin street after Detective Findley had emptied his revolver in pursuing him. The detectives obtained confessions, and they say that the negro members of the gang committed the actual burglaries and that Moon accompanied them, carrying a shotgun ready for action.

Mrs. Grant is the caretaker of the Ellis street house.

Among the homes where large quantities of loot were obtained, according to the police, were those of Mrs. Charles Mack, 1821 Jackson; Eugene Donovan, 635 Forty-first avenue; A. J. Baker, 1929 Cass; orillo street; W. G. Allen, 124 Fourth avenue, and the Winters home in Burlingame.

At the Fourth avenue house canaries valued at $1000 were obtained and, the police say, were later allowed to fly away from the Ellis street house.

POLICE TRIP EXPENSE ROW UP TO COURT

In order to end the present city-county row concerning who shall pay for returned prisoners brought from other cities to Oakland, Commissioner Frank Colbourn today asserted that the chief of police will bring mandamus proceedings against the city auditor to compel him to honor warrants for returning prisoners here.

City Auditor Harry Williams recently rejected several claims of this sort, on the advice of the city attorney.

"If Williams is not compelled to pay, that clears the city," says Colbourn. "The only way to handle this matter is through the courts. The question is becoming a nuisance. There is danger of our prisoners going free if they can escape to other cities."

OAKLAND SOCCER PLAYERS WILL TACKLE SACRAMENTO TEAM

RAY LONG PLANS TO GIVE JIMMY DUFFY A GOOD TIME AT THE AUDITORIUM ON MONDAY

Sacramento to Oppose Local Soccer Eleven

Inter-City Series Opens Today in San Francisco; Los Angeles Plays Monday.

On account of the inter-city soccer series which starts tomorrow afternoon at Tobin field in San Francisco there will be no games played on Sunday in the Bay Cities Soccer Football League in the East-bay. The next scheduled games of the Bay Cities Soccer League are to take place on Sunday, January 7, according to the secretary, at which time the following games will be played: Neptune vs. Golden Gate Merchants at Washington Park, Alameda; Sons of St. George vs. Ancient Order of Foresters at San Pablo playgrounds, Berkeley; Italia Virtus Club vs. Rangers at Garfield school grounds, Berkeley. The first game of the inter-city series will find the all-star Oakland eleven, chosen from the six clubs of the Bay Cities League, pitted against the kickers from Sacramento. The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

SACRAMENTO UNKNOWN.

Little is known of the up-State all-star team but the caliber of soccer played in the capital city is testified to by those who remember the cup tie series of last season in which the McKinley Park eleven made such an excellent showing against the teams of Oakland and San Francisco.

The Oakland team has an array of experienced talent in the line-up announced which is calculated to give the Sacramento team a good run for its money. Franchini, the tall, powerful Italian goal keeper of the Italia Virtus Club, has been one of the stars of the Bay Cities League season. Franchini has shown several times his ability at stopping shots for the corners of the net, possessing an unusual reach and being quick as a cat. His remarkable defensive ability has pulled the Virtus Club out of many a tough situation. But eleven goals scored against him in eleven games.

Captain Critchlow of the Alameda Neptunes possesses an excellent foot, being an ideal full-back. Cameron, his running midfielder, the inter-city series, has shown exceptional ability at clearing up the defensive area and can kick with the best of the cooters in the league.

STRONG DEFENSE.

Rae, Mels and Dirkree, the half-backs, are an aggressive set of backs, all fast on their feet whose greatest value is defensive playing. Dirkree is particularly in aet to the forwards.

With Spurgeon of the Sons of St. George on left wing the Oakland team has one of the finest outside men in the league. He is reliable at centering his shots and together with Nichols, the right wing, will make trouble for the defensive combination from Sacramento.

Shields of the Ancient Order of Foresters has been the outstanding star of the team in several games played against the league leaders and is a good inside player. Phipps plays a dashing style of soccer and can both pass and shoot. Arnold of the Nepe at center forward will prove a revelation to San Francisco soccer fans who have not seen him in action this year. The brilliant Alameda forward has been playing the best game of his career for the league leaders.

The all-around ability of the eleven chosen to represent Oakland makes them the favorite to finish high up in the inter-city series. The local team will meet Los Angeles in the second game of the series Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at Tobin field in the first game of a double header.

U. C. Denies a Pact Between The Big Three

BERKELEY Dec. 29.—There is absolutely nothing in the report from Los Angeles concerning a ten year playing agreement between Stanford, U. S. C. and California, declared Graduate Manager L. A. Nichols of the U. C. this morning. "If Stanford and U. S. C. entered into any such agreement independent of the Pacific coast conference I know nothing of it."

It is understood that California will continue to play both Stanford and U. S. C. in football and other sports in the future. Nichols went on to say, "but as to a ten year agreement, there has been no such thing drawn up nor will there be on New Year's or thereafter as is reported."

Aggie Quintell Defeats Stockton

STOCKTON Dec. 29.—The Oregon Aggies basketball team turned in their straight win last night on the local court when they defeated the Stockton Amblers, a local outfit, by the score of 41-11. This is the highest score rolled up by the O. A. C. tappers on their tour. At half time the Aggies were leading 14-7. The first half was close until within three minutes of half time when the Aggies shot three goals in rapid succession. The five men defense of the

Battling Ortega Defeats McGovern

SAN JOSE Dec. 29.—Battling Ortega won the decision over Eddie McGovern here last night but the Battler knew he had been in a fight before his arm was raised in token of victory. McGovern clipped Ortega on the chin in the first round, knocking him down for a count of four, but from that point on Ortega started to bore in and he had his man in bag shape at the finish.

Pancho Villa and Martin Meet Tonight

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Pancho Villa, American flyweight champion, will meet Terry Martin of Providence, R. I., in a 15-round feature bout here tonight. No title is at stake. In the semi-final Babe Herman of California will race rigney Hutchinson of Philadelphia and another attraction will bring together "Pickles" Martin of California and Jimmy Carroll of New York.

LEWIS BEATS TURNER

SAN FRANCISCO Dec. 29.—"Strangler" Lewis won two straight fights from Jack Turner in their wrestling match here last night. The first fall came in 63 minutes, 43 seconds, and the second in 4 minutes, 10 seconds.

Dempsey-Wills Talk Revived In New York

Governor Al Smith Looks With Favor Upon Proposed Match.

By DAVIS J. WALSH, International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Diplomatic revival of the Dempsey-Wills proposition is in order when Jack Kearns arrives in New York in a ship of self-satisfaction and a cutaway coat, some weeks hence. This is the good word that has gone out among the "set" since from sources unknown higher up "he up has been given that all is not well" and the interested parties may proceed with their plans without the fear of disaster interruptions.

Al Smith, the new governor, is said to look with a tolerant eye upon the proposal, at any rate he is believed to be a receptive mood and in no wise inclined to interfere as long as the law is obeyed.

Gentlemen of the press, therefore, may expect to be duly informed almost any time now of public demand for the match can be restrained no longer.

It is believed that Kearns is convinced neither Floyd Johnson nor Luis Firpo can be built up in a continuing attraction before the summer months and realizing this Dempsey is gaining nothing by his protracted idleness, is ready to do business with the first real contender that comes along. The latter and Harry Wills are one and the same.

The boat will be put on if nothing unforeseen occurs, in New York during the coming summer and it is possible that the Polo Grounds will be the scene of the affair.

Tex Rickard, of course, will be a conspicuous bidder, but unless he can get the Yankee stadium, may not care to erect a new arena capable of accommodating a crowd such as would witness a bout of this magnitude. Jersey City is regarded as an impracticable site because the New Jersey law will

College Assn. Moves to Take Greater Part

N. C. A. A. Seeks to Increase Scope to Administrative Class.

By JACKSON V. SCHOLZ, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The National Collegiate Athletic Association which has functioned for many years purely in the capacity of an advisory body took steps in its annual meeting yesterday to adopt certain changes in its constitution which will increase its scope and place it in the administrative class.

Even though the present revival of the construction growth increases the influence of the body over intercollegiate athletics, the proposed change which was vigorously and successfully attacked by delegates with interests outside the N. C. A. A. might have had the effect of putting the N. C. A. A. into the administrative class.

The clash at yesterday's meeting came as a result of the wording of the second clause of the new constitution which stated in part:

"The purpose of this association is the supervision of the regulation and conduct by its constituent members of intercollegiate sports and regional and national amateur athletic contests and the preservation of intercollegiate athletic records."

In the original form it appeared that the new powers of the association might tend to encroach on the privileges and rights heretofore reserved by the U. S. C. A. A. and even those of the A. A. U. Thereafter after a heated argument the word "collegiate" in the proper place and the meeting proceeded with the order of business.

A great deal of interest was created on the report of the resolutions committee, which presented eleven proposals, ten of which were finally passed in the form of resolutions.

Dean D. W. Morehouse of Drake University presented the resolutions, as follows:

- 1. That colleges should organize intercollegiate athletics under the supervision of the association.
- 2. More rigid enforcement of amateur regulations.
- 3. Adoption of the freshman rule.
- 4. Condemnation of "tramp" athletes.
- 5. That all collegiate athletes should be limited to three years of collegiate competition.
- 6. That graduate students be declared ineligible for intercollegiate competition.

With the KNIGHTS of the GLOVES

By BOB SHAND

Ray Long, the Oklahoma welterweight who boxes Jimmy Duffy at the Auditorium Monday afternoon, is due to arrive here tomorrow morning. Ray will be accompanied by his father, who acts as manager for the boy. The pair have been in Los Angeles for the past three months where Long met with considerable success. He knocked Teddy O'Hara down and handed him a defeat. He also won from Jimmy Sacco and in his last start boxed a draw with the rejuvenated Paul Salvador. The latter defeated Joe Benjamin recently. Before coming to the Coast Long held Jack Britton even and gained decisions over some well-known performers.

Tod Morgan, who meets Joe Lynch wants to knock little Joe for a goal. A few months ago when Tod was making "em all look slow he hooked up with the Masson featherweight and what Joe did to the Pride of Vallejo was plenty and also sufficient. It was a surprise victory and Tod is out for revenge.

The Gene Chne-Eddie Landon affair should be warm. They have boxed before and there is no love lost between the pair. Terry McBride vs. Johnny Marvin, Joe Bell vs. Jimmy Rizzo and Dave Wood vs. Angelo Gatto round out the card.

Battling Ortega is battering away at his sparring partners in the West Oakland gymnasium. Quite a number of customers will attend the festivities Monday just to get another peek at the old Battler and see how far back he has gone. Bat admits he is not as shifty as he used to be, but he really thinks he can make Dempsey jump out of the ring. He will figure the only way he knows how—tear in and whale away with clubbed punches. The Dempsey roundhouse swings will be in evidence as usual.

To oppose freshman contests between colleges.

8 That all college athletes must receive the permission of the faculty before competing on other than college teams.

10 That the faculty should have absolute control of a college sports.

11 That all colleges should enforce their influence toward enforcing the rules of the association.

The rule regarding freshman competition was finally laid on the table out of respect to those to whom the rule was new and who at that time to consider it.

Oakland 'Y' Will Oppose O. A. C. Five

Northern Collegians to Make First Appearance in East-bay Tomorrow Night.

The Oregon Aggies are scheduled to open their basketball play in the Eastbay tomorrow night when they play at the Oakland "Y" M. C. A. against the Oakland "Y" quintet of Glenn Williams. The "barnstorming" collegians opened their tour at Sacramento where they defeated the American Legion team 28-18. Continuing to Grass Valley the Aggies were again victorious, beating the Grass Valley city team by a score of 28-16. Last night the Aggies played at Stockton against the Stockton Legion.

The northern squad, coached by Bob Hager, well known in Oakland and bringing with them "Mush" Hjelte, former University of California star and named all-coast center last year by J. F. Bohler, will play St. Ignatius College in San Francisco this evening.

The northerners are bringing a squad of ten men on their present tour. No definite lineup has been announced for their game here tomorrow night.

To date "Slats" Gill has been the outstanding star of the team from an offensive point of view.

Bruno and Ridings are a pair of newcomers in the forward ranks while Hjelte will hold down center and Glenn and Art Ross are the best known pair of guards. Gill was named all coast guard last year.

The Y. M. C. A. lineup has not been announced by Coach Glenn Williams but with Captain Daniels and straining at the reins, the original Oakland Golden State center and Nielsen and Spencer at guards he would have as strong a combination as could be mustered from the squad which is to play in the unlimited division of the East Bay Basketball League when the season opens.

The game at the Oakland "Y" tomorrow night is scheduled to start at 8.30.

Daily Age-Examiner

What Dorothy Dix Says

THE INEQUALITY OF THE SEXES.

Nothing ever gives me a funny bone such a good, hard jolt as hearing people argue about the equality of the sexes, and gravely contending that men and women should be judged by the same standard.

They should be, of course, but they never will be, and there never will be any equality between the sexes until nature and the custom of centuries are altered.

Nature begins it by making woman of a frail physique than man, and laying on her the burden of bearing the race. Then she throws in all the odds and ends of nerves that she happens to have lying about handy, and having added these to all the ills that masculine flesh is heir to, and made a few specific complaints of her own, it chucka a woman out into the world and says:

"There, I've done my worst by you. Now go out and fight your battle of life. I've done everything I could do to unfit you for it, and if you win out it isn't my fault."

Then age long convention takes up the work. It begins by demanding that every woman must be beautiful though ugly, that she must be slim though fat in the money bed class, and that no matter how busy she is or how little money she has to spend, she must dress like a mummy.

NEATNESS AND CLEANLINESS.

A man has the privilege of being as ugly as nature made him, and provided he is clean, and neat, nobody cares how he dresses. The fact that Jim Jones is homely enough to stop the clock, and keep him from getting a good job if he is a crackjack salesman, and we would all be horrified to hear that Mrs. Jones had lost interest in her perfectly good husband because he had gotten fat and bald.

But let a middle aged woman, who is either too fat, or too thin, stick her hair back into a bun, and a little tight waist at the back of her head; let her put on big, flat shoes, and a shabby old dress, let her nose be glistening with powder, and her cheeks red with rouge, and let her thus accoutred start forth to get a job in a business office.

She might have broken the type-written record, and be a first-class calculator, and have the financial genius of Betty Green, but she would never get past a single office door.

THEY MAY CRITICIZE.

Men may criticize each other as much as they like; they may engage in fierce business rivalries, and call each other every opprobrious name under the sun, and yet their voices raised in protest, but unless every woman is fulsomely flattering about every other woman, she is regarded as a spiteful old cat. Why should she be? Men are men, and women are women, and if they are to be filled with admiration of other women who are ugly, and dull, and stupid, any more than a man should be a universal admirer of every member of his sex.

Convention gives men alone the right to use any common sense in judging his fellow man. When a man commits a crime, or is a sneak thief, nobody expects other men to pity the criminal, and feel that he is a poor, persecuted victim of society. But if women don't slobber all over a kidnaper, a lady pickpocket, and if they think that those other women who commit crimes should be punished about how hard women are on their sister women.

Man alone has the privilege of being honest in the family relationship. A man can love his wife without professing to think her a Venus or a Minerva. He can be fond of his children, and still admit that he is glad to get away from home once in a while by himself, and leave his innumerable behind him.

But heaven help the woman who confesses that though she loves her John, she does not think him either handsome or brilliant, and that her children get on her nerves until she feels like running away and leaving them, and that she gets so fed up on her home life that she wishes the very sight and sound of it. Such sentiments are simply not to be publicly expressed by any woman who wants to remain in regular standing in her job.

The greatest inequality between the sexes, and the greatest injustice of all, is that men alone have the privilege of picking out their mates, and choosing the individuals with whom they have to spend thirty, or forty, or fifty years. Every woman is ten times more married to her husband than he is to her, and it makes a hundred times more difference whether she is suited in a husband than it does whether he is suited in a wife. But for all that, no woman dares go up to the man, and say: "I don't like you; and if she did, he would say: "No," just because he would feel bound to help preserve his sex monopoly.

About the only equality between the sexes is political equality. In other matters, women have no such much the end of the bargain, and her girl baby without tendering profuse apologies to the unfortunate infant.

For Once in His Life Tootles Was Disturbed.

(Poised by Henry Shumer, Fulton Theatre)

"I heard you were a nut," said the college man. "But you seem to have a way of getting results. I want to engage you. Will you take the case?"

Knott nodded.

"And you must pledge yourself to secrecy," added the other. "No one knows of our meeting. If it got out, she would be ruined. Both of us are attending college. Her parents don't know. They object to me."

"Very natural sentiment," vouchsafed Tootles.

"What?"

"If you go around the house combing your hair with your fingers, talking to yourself, throwing cigarette cases in waste baskets and biting your fingernails like you have been doing for the last few minutes, I can't say that I blame the parents very much," said the detective testily.

"The youth made a desperate effort to collect his faculties.

"I've got to get a grip on myself. I will tell you what happened. Then you will understand."

"On Christmas eve my wife snatched me into her home, and she said she was going to be the oldest folks but the kids uncovered me after a while and her father ordered me out. Helene, my wife, denied her parents, saying that if I went, she would go with me. She went up to her room to get her coat and hat."

"While she was gone the old man and his son entered me out of the house and snatched the dog on me. I had to run, but I waited around outside the gate, thinking that Helene would come out."

"I waited for several hours, but nothing happened. Then an automobile drove up to the rear entrance. I saw my wife sneak out and stand by the car talking to someone. I tried to read the license plates but they were so covered with mud that I couldn't make them out. I thought that was rather peculiar, as the wheels were perfectly clean. They hadn't been driven through mud."

"Suddenly there was a struggle. I heard my wife laugh, then a car drove away. I saw the car dragged into the car, which drove away rapidly. I could hear her crying out for a block."

"Luckily another car was passing, and I jumped on the running board and told him to pursue the kidnappers. We followed them down through Oakland, keeping in sight but never able to catch up with them. They drove south to the waterfront and we overhauled them at the foot of Stanton."

"Just as I jumped out of the automobile, a woman, muffled in a big coat and disguised with spectacles, snuck a gun in my face. She made the driver of the car turn around, forced me to get in, and held the gun on us until we disappeared."

"Of course my companion immediately suggested reporting the thing to the police."

"I explained to him that to do so would be ruinous. Her parents would force an annulment of our marriage, and she married without their consent."

"I went back by myself, intending to make another try at a rescue, but when I got there the wharf was empty."

"Everybody but you, maybe, ma sed. Now watch me, just watch me, a little confidence is all it needs, just confidence, pop sed."

"And he took the picture and started to run it up, as soon as he got the paper folded on one end it came unfolded on the other end before he had time to put the string on his spring. You seem to be having a little trouble, Will-yum."

"Not at all, on the contrary, this paper is too small, that all, pop sed."

"Why don't you add a little more confidence to make up for the scarcity of paper, hee hee, ma sed. And the string is no good either."

Yestidday was my teetchees birthday and I had a present for her, being a picture of 2 flying angels and 4 clouds I had in the 3, 5 and 9 cent store, and I brewed it down when I went down to breakfast, saying to ma, May ma, will you rapp this up nice with this paper and string so it will look expensive."

"Hand it here, ill rapp it for you, pop sed."

Now Will-yum, you know you'll make it look like a rock, ma sed."

"I don't know anything of the sort, anybody with just a little bit of confidence can tie a neat package, pop sed."

Anybody but you, maybe, ma sed. Now watch me, just watch me, a little confidence is all it needs, just confidence, pop sed."

And he put on his hat and overcoat and went down to the office and mended the string together again, and rapped the picture, percame undid at both ends and the string broke in half and pop jumped up mad, saying, A good workman needs good tools, take that junk away."

And he put on his hat and overcoat and went down to the office and mended the string together again, and rapped the picture, percame undid at both ends and the string broke in half and pop jumped up mad, saying, A good workman needs good tools, take that junk away."

Early Birds

A saying—

That is somewhat trite—

Commends the early bird for rising—

At peep of dawn—to catch the early rising worm—

Which sleepy man who loves the hay—

Can work both ways—

Be that as it may, I only know—

That all my life I've ever been—

An early bird—

And in a manner most sincere—

I rise to say—

That he who hibernates in bed—

Until the sun is up and dressed—

And well upon its daily journey—

Will never know the joy that comes—

To early birds—

Each morning as I walk on feet—

That barely touch the frosted ground—

As just a beam of sun is showing—

I pass by many early birds—

Whose duty calls them—

To rise and be about at break of day—

And those who have their health and strength—

Know well the tonic in the air—

As day is dawning—

I meet the newsboy as he goes—

To silent doorsteps with his papers—

The while he whistles lively airs—

And well I know that he is planning—

Some healthful sport—

For morning air makes one think cleanly—

An old man—at the leaning age—

Stands quiet at the front-yard gate—

And in his eyes I see a look—

That I have often seen in sailors—

As they peered out across the waves—

Keen watching for the distant land—

And as I know the old man soon will go upon a journey—

I understand the look—

And down upon the still quiet streets—

A white wing sweeps his busy way—

And from his lips I hear a snatch of song—

The spirit of the early morn—

Is in his heart—

The first car down comes grating by—

The gripman waves a—"Ain't this great?"

He is a seasoned early bird and likes it—

Now from the rooms come workmen—

And dart into hot coffee places—

And soon I hear the waiter's voice—

As loud he tells the cook his orders—

A stack of whites an' two in the air—

Java—black—the gent has got a holdover—

A bashful boy points his finger and says—

A cup of coffee, please, and some of them things—

And watching these men who so keenly eat—

I know why the early bird goes for the worm—

Early birds and hungry birds.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE

by BATHON COFFMAN

Fighting in the Middle Ages.

During the Middle Ages, bishops and abbots were often forced to go to the battlefield.

An order of a king of the Franks to the "abbot of Fulda" was as follows:

"We command you to come with your men well armed. Go to the proper place so you can fight wherever we tell you to do so."

(The king spoke of himself as "we.") That was a custom of the time. The abbot was also told to bring with him "baggage carts, axes, hatchets, iron shovels, arms and food."

Perhaps you wonder what kind of arms were used. There were no guns. Powder to blow bullets had not been invented. Instead of rifles, bows and arrows were used.

Men who could afford it liked to ride horseback. They carried shields, light spears, swords and daggers. Sometimes horsemen carried bows and arrows, but that was more usual with soldiers on foot.

As time went on, the fighters took more and more pains to guard themselves. Shields were not enough. A custom of some Roman soldiers had been to wear armor. The Franks and other Germans finally admitted this was a good idea.

The armor was made of iron. The kind that each man wore depended on how rich he was. The poorer soldiers could afford only breast plates and helmets. Others covered almost every part of their bodies with metal. The armor was heavy and clumsy, but it warded off many an arrow and spear thrust.

Even without gunpowder, older armies had weapons like cannons. The Roman "cannon" hurled heavy stones instead of iron balls.

Armies of the Middle Ages used machines that had been fire at any army of the Middle Ages, I'm sure that army wouldn't have stopped running for days.

My Marriage Problems

Clara Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

THE ADMISSION MADGE WAS FORCED TO MAKE TO HERSELF.

My mother-in-law's sudden onslaught of words bewildered me. I have become so used to her caustic comments upon everything surrounding her that in these later years I have developed against them a mental barrier whose polished surface lets them slip off into oblivion almost unheeded.

But there was something about her present attack which evidently found a crevice in the polished barrier for when she had finished I found myself dazed, hurt, quivering with anger at her injustice.

That she should have twisted my housewife efforts to have as pleasant a luncheon as possible for young Tom Cobb, to whom we owed so much, into a flirtatious desire to attract his admiration—I bit my lips to the bleeding point in the effort to keep back the stormy words rising to the surface.

She was my husband's mother, an old woman, infirm, especially weak on account of her injured arm. I kept telling myself these things to help keep down the rising tide of anger threatening to overflow in speech, angry, unbecomingly, which should undo all that my forbearance of years had accomplished in good feeling between us.

MADGE'S REPLY.

Speech of some sort she evidently expected, however, for she paused at the end of her little tirade, and looked toward me expectantly, struggling with my temper, and finally found words.

"I don't think you realize how unjust you are, Mother," I said, slowly, trying to keep the quaver out of my voice. "You surely remember how much young Mr. Chester did for us in that awful time when Junior was kidnapped. I think you, yourself, would have ordered as nice a luncheon as possible, and let on to the flowers, and always have them on the table, and I generally change my gown for guests."

My mother-in-law had been looking me up and down with her long, thin, white hair, and her indignation had straightened her somewhat bent figure, so that she loomed tall and forbidding to my excited imagination. My voice faltered—ran back, and I saw my mother-in-law's face answering her as she deserved, and any other answer was futile.

THE GRAIN OF TRUTH.

"You may fool yourself, Margaret, but you can't fool me, nor anybody else with eyes in their head for that matter. I've seen one thing, and fusing as if you were preparing a decoration for a wedding or a funeral is something else again. And I haven't lost all my memory or my eyesight yet. I remember hearing that young man tell you blue was his favorite color last spring, so you needn't try to put anything over on me about dressing yourself up in that blue linen gown. It's most unsuitable, anyway, so late in the fall."

She moved majestically toward the door and I, more crushed than she, knew she had finished. But she had still another arrow in her quiver, which she waited until she was on the latch to send out.

"I've always heard," she said loftily, "that when a woman gets just about your age you want to look out for your complexion. So just because I've thought you were going—along very sensibly; but I guess you're like all the rest—let some boy almost young enough to be your own son come along and make a few squirts and you want color becomes you, and you lose your head."

She was strategic enough to get out of the room with this little speech, leaving me no opportunity of reply even had I wished to answer her.

But I was past speech. Choking with rage, I sat silent, still, battling with the impulse to shriek and let my wrath at this unjust indictment.

Queerly enough, the whitest heat of my anger was directed against my own soul. For cruel, unjust as was my mother-in-law's, there yet had been the tiny grain of truth in it which always gives the most virulent spite to any criticism.

The luncheon, the flowers—my conscience acquitted me of them; I would have taken the same pains for any guest whom I wished to honor.

But I could not disguise from my own soul that had remembered young Mr. Chester's carelessness I had done the gown, that I had put away from me the thought of the gown being a trifle unbecomingly, and that unconsciously I had fed upon the look of admiration which leaped up in the boy's eyes when he saw me.

UNCLE WIGGLY AND JACKIE'S JOKE.

"Oh, come back here!" cried Uncle Wiggly.

"Nurse Jane, would you mind handing me my red and blue striped rheumatism crutch, that you were so kind as to gnaw for me out of a cornstalk?" asked Uncle Wiggly.

"Why, of course I'll do that for you," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, and she passed the corner where the bunny rabbit gentleman's crutch stood, Nurse Jane handed it to him.

"Are you going out?" she asked.

"Yes, to look for a little adventure," said Uncle Wiggly.

"I'm going to hop over the fields and through the woods, and I hope I may have a funny adventure."

"I hope the same," spoke Nurse Jane. And, as long as you are going out, I'll go to the store."

Uncle Wiggly still sat in his easy chair, looking at his rheumatism crutch. Nurse Jane put on her bonnet and shawl.

"Well, I'm ready before you are," she said to the bunny. "I'll go to the store and look for the door after you when you go out."

"I will," said Uncle Wiggly, slowly twinkling his pink nose.

"Yes, I must go out—go out—to find an adventure—and adventure—ad-an-er-ah!" And before he knew it Uncle Wiggly had fallen asleep in his easy chair, all alone in his hollow stump bungalow.

Nurse Jane having gone, Uncle Wiggly still sat in his easy chair. Then, all of a sudden, came an animal who looked first on one side and then on the other, finally

"Oh, the front door is open! I can go in and play a joke on Uncle Wiggly!"

But don't be frightened, children! There was no bad animal like the Fuzzy Fox or the Woosy Wolf. It was only Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog snapper. And Jackie had something which he carried in his paws. The door was open and Jackie had no trouble getting inside. He walked very softly, for he wanted to surprise Uncle Wiggly, and

My Favorite Stories

IRVIN S. COBB

Everything Coming Out Just Right.

This is one of those post-war stories. However, it is said to have the advantage on its side of being true. It seems there was an English nobleman whose estate shrank frightfully between 1914 and 1918. He decided, in order to replenish the family fortune, to go into business. But neither nature nor experience, his former mode of life had qualified him for a commercial career and he made a frightful hash of the venture.

Eventually, a receiver took over his affairs. The receiver engaged an expert accountant who went over the books and struck a trial balance.

His Lordship scanned the document and exclaimed: "What a remarkable coincidence! What an extraordinary coincidence! Why, the totals on both sides are identical!"

A little joke on the bunny rabbit and Jackie.

But Jackie had not been so quiet, for there was Uncle Wiggly, and he was in the house.

The bunny's rheumatism crutch was so much that he took medicine, and the medicine sent him to sleep. Gently Uncle Wiggly's pink nose twinkled as he slept.

"Ah, it will be easy to play a joke on him now," whispered Jackie. "But I'll not play a mean joke."

The little doggie boy put down on the floor in front of Uncle Wiggly something which Jackie had carried in his paws. It was a toy rabbit of cars that Santa Claus had brought Jackie for Christmas.

I'll make believe Uncle Wiggly's rheumatism crutch is a big log of wood—a tree from the forest," whispered Jackie to himself. "And I'll pretend my train of cars is going to take the big tree to the lumber mill. That's what I'll do."

So while Uncle Wiggly slept, Jackie tied one end of a string to the bunny's rheumatism crutch and the other end of the string to the last car of the toy train. Then Jackie wound up the spring in his engine that pulled the toy cars and started them crawling "ve room."

"Whizz! Toot-toot! Choo-choo!" went the train of cars, pulling Uncle Wiggly's crutch. The bunny held the crutch between his paws, and even though he was asleep, Uncle Wiggly felt the crutch being pulled from him.

"Oh! Oh! Stop!" cried the bunny rabbit. "What's happening? My crutch!" With his eyes half open Uncle Wiggly saw his crutch jiggling across the floor. Then, the door being open Jackie's train of cars ran right out on the sidewalk, dragging the crutch after them.

"Oh, come back here! Come back!" cried Uncle Wiggly, and he ran so fast after the crutch that he slipped and slid down the steep kerbunk out on the sidewalk.

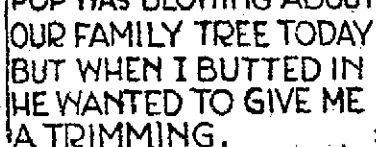

"Oh, I didn't mean my joke to do that!" said Jackie. Then the train of cars ran into a tree and stopped, and Uncle Wiggly picked himself up, got his crutch and hobbled into the bungalow.

As for Jackie, when he heard how it happened, "Your joke made me jump up and my rheumatism is now much better. And I don't have to go out for an adventure, as I had one right here."

Then Uncle Wiggly found a cake in the pantry and gave Jackie some and they had a fine time together. And if the tack puller doesn't try to lift the gas stove all by itself and get so lame it has to ride in the baby carriage, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Jackie's doll.

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World

THE worst old maids are the male ones. You can excuse an aging, inexperienced lady for her fussiness and timidity and even for her meddling. She looks the part and she hasn't anything else to do anyway. But when something in outside tweed pants, bathrigan underwear, purple neckties, brogans, cheap cigars and red whiskers begins nosing around, whining, snooping, objecting, twittering, sneering and making himself a paraboloid nuisance generally, you want to hand him a Ty Cobb that will land him in the Emergency.

Generally I like men. If they're men. But I cannot abide them when they set like a cross between a squaw and a mosquito.

The kind of old rabbit that's always butting into your personal affairs and telling you disagreeable things "for your own good."

Who runs and rattles to the boss on the slightest provocation—buzzards to it at the slightest hint of scandal.

Who is always snooping around looking for Vice, and finding some where the ordinary human couldn't see it with a microscope.

Who's always wheezing for the "sweet, old fashioned girl," and declaring he'd "rather see" his daughter in her grave than with her hair bobbed!"

Who makes his home a perfect haven of rest by crabbing if anyone else sits in his chair, and who insists that the beefsteak must be done in a certain way and no other, and who breaks forth in loud, wet soba if anyone has grabbed the newspaper before he sees it and left it mangled.

All these I maintain are Old Maids of the most obnoxious order. They should be sewed in a sack, and left in someone's back lot just as you would any other troublesome Tabby. And I've a sack!

What do you think of the present rage for the psychoanalytical treatment of life? Here's Mother Ma-chree's opinion. This is an interesting field for discussion. Who has an idea to share?

"Dear Jerry: "The psychoanalysis is important enough for any more discussion. The reason I called it 'soul analysis' was my remembrance of the Greek root psyche, meaning soul, which I have just looked up in Webster's. However, if you think that is mind analysis, and that the terms 'mind' and 'soul' are interchangeable, let us talk on that basis—let us use the word 'soul' for the study of the sciences of the mind."

"I think this subject is very important just now, and one that many people seem to be interested in. I have seen lectures advertised every week on kindred subjects, and dozens of teachers are springing up offering to impart knowledge on mind reactions, mind control, how to control the mind, and others, etc., and attracting a large following. Many of these teachers offer to teach the student how to heal himself of disease, both mental and physical, through a correct knowledge of mind. There is nothing new in all this, but the names given this teaching, The Science of Power, over self and over others, is old and has always proved an effective bait for human nature."

"I stated in my last letter that I thought psychoanalysis did a good thing in looking to the mind for the cause of things, instead of supposing them to be the effect of a physical cause. I believe that all of the troubles of men and women are lessened if we mentally comprehend the truth about life. But I tried to distinguish for you the difference between the changing, erring, uncertain human mind and the unchanging, eternal, and true Principle, or the Divine Mind, which I shall term principle hereafter for your clearer understanding of what I mean."

"The mind of the human mind may be general, but they are changeable, uncertain, different, and therefore unsafe to base upon. The action of Principle is always the same, and it is as unchangeable as it is as unchangeable as the science of mathematics—two and two will always equal four. It matters not if two thousand students contradict me, Principle and I will try to make it equal three or five, the result will ever be the same, because it is based on truth. So I claim there is this Divine principle governing all life, which needs but to be studied and comprehended in order to cure our ills and troubles. Mankind is not ruled by the many millions of human minds, but by the one self-righteous One Divine Principle. Inasmuch as we discern in harmony with its laws and live in happiness, finding every want met."

"When we turn aside from this principle and listen to the false human mind, we work against the human mind, and find ourselves in trouble, doubt, confusion and disease. The condition of our upset mind reflects itself in our physical body. This is why I think that in psychology (which I believe to be the study of the science of mind) the students thereof are making a mistake when they make a study of human minds, and the reactions thereof."

"I know it is hard to make myself understood on this question. The human mind rebels at being placed secondary; it is such a blow to egoism, self-righteousness, and the human mind likes to quote over the old saw, 'I am the captain of my soul,' master of my fate, etc. But sooner or later, if one is honest, they will have to admit a greater guide, a more powerful pilot, a wiser source. On the battle field rough hardened men who had always felt self-sufficient turned upon their heels and begged for help, which they little knew might be their last words before zero hour. Many men will corroborate this."

"I do not equate picturesque, but respect something already known to many. If people had any conception of principle, they would not flock in such droves to these lectures about psychology and kindred subjects. Back of it all lies the supposition that in the human mind lies a great, unknown power, which needs to be developed and henceforth the student will have 'perfection' and be able to demonstrate his ability to control those about him to his own advantage. Others think they can make their minds so sensitive that they will be able to catch the thoughts of others, and throw out mental suggestions. But I believe we must be aware of it. They want to hear of our dreams, and by them discover what goes on in the hidden depths of our mind. To the student it is all very fascinating, because it is so lacking in tangible proof. But it does not lead to any definite knowledge, and the pity of it is that many people start out sensibly enough, and after awhile begin to think that their minds are being developed along a certain mysterious route."

"They begin to 'concentrate' to father data, they feel that they can learn 'impressions' of facts and thoughts of others; they begin to trust these impressions more than common sense would warrant; they think they can read minds, and in the process of doing so, they are generally the ones who take the outward appearance, the evidence of their physical eyes, as their guide, and the result of this is a doubtful development is usually such that they are judged 'queer' by others, and their (to them) remarkable ability is good-naturedly tolerated."

"It is a well known thing that in many public gatherings in Oakland this season, sick people have gone for help, and the lecturer would request those present to 'put their hands on the afflicted person' or 'if the power of these united human minds were a force to dispel disease. This silly, senseless practice cannot be too strongly condemned. The young people who work in the fears, or childish faith of one already weak from illness with the idea that their minds can effect a cure, should certainly be restrained from such wicked malpractice."

"Perhaps I have strayed from my subject, but it is all on the line of what people today are listening to as the different phases of 'mind science.' I would be very glad to direct my student's attention to the method and study of principle, and what constitutes discipline. I would be very glad to direct my student's attention to the method and study of principle, and what constitutes discipline."

The young people who work in the fears, or childish faith of one already weak from illness with the idea that their minds can effect a cure, should certainly be restrained from such wicked malpractice."

TRY APPRECIATION

There is a sapient observation of Mark Twain: "A dozen direct censures are easier to bear than one morganatic compliment." Many a man knows what it means to be "damned with faint praise."

The mayor of a large city was waited on by a committee of good citizens, who came to complain about some of his acts. He told this group of the elect in scorching words that this was the first time he had ever heard from them. Wasn't there something in his record that merited approval? Why spot the flaws and withhold commendation of the worthy measures he had inaugurated? This official speaks rightly for his brothers in office who often get brickbats when they deserve bouquets.

When a man in public life does a signal service he should get his due of praise without stint and with the utmost heartiness. Appreciation never spoils a man, the lack of it often sours him.

Try it on Friend Wife. Tell her tonight at dinner that the angels are denied one thing at least—the privilege of eating her biscuits.

Try complimenting the boy for a bit of good work. He eats it alive and thrives on it.

Try it on employees. Astonish the boss with a kind word. He is not expecting it and it will do him good.

Judicious praise is the oil of gladness and the greatest lubricant in the market.

STANFORD AND PITT ON EDGE FOR GAME ON FARM TOMORROW

Pittsburgh Conceded to Have Advantage in Straight Football; Cards' Chance Is in Aerial Attack. Surprise May Be in Store.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

"Pop" Warner's Panthers will have their opportunity tomorrow afternoon to upset the theory that the long transcontinental trip works a hardship on Eastern eleven in games on the Coast. The University of Pittsburgh is not rated as championship eleven in Eastern football circles, but is nevertheless considered among the first ten of the Eastern field. One look at the personnel of the Panther squad is sufficient to convince any football enthusiast that the Blue and Gold material is all that it has been cracked up to be. Stanford and Andy Kerr will not be laboring under any delusions as to the strength of the team they are going up against, and given clear weather, should make a strong bid to give the visitors plenty of action.

The wet weather has undoubtedly decreased Stanford's chances considerably. While the Cards did not all season display a passing attack that can be said to be materially weakened by a wet field, their games to date have been played on dry grounds, while Pittsburgh has had the advantage of having played under any and all climatic conditions. Tomorrow's weather will not alter the Pitt attack, straight football of the sort coached by Warner having as many advantages on a wet field as on a dry one.

As in the case of Gonzaga vs. West Virginia last Monday, Stanford's chances of scoring depend largely upon the ability of Kerr's men to open up an aerial attack. The Pitt line has stopped heavier and more experienced backs than those possessed by the Cards already this season.

Those who are well acquainted with Stanford's players realize that there are no brilliant stars among the Cardinal backs. Wilcox as a punter, Cuddeback as a field goal kicker, these two alone are well developed as specialists in their own particular line.

None of the Stanford backs made exceptional records against western teams as around gainers. Cuddeback, Wilcox, Doughty, the three Stanford backs who bore the brunt of the attack throughout the season, all were halted time and again by teams like Washington, U. S. C. and the Oregon Aggies without having made yardage or even checked during a march and forced to kick.

On straight football Pittsburgh will undoubtedly have the upper hand. As in the case of the California game, much will depend upon the punting. For the first quarter at least Flanagan of Pitt and Wilcox may be expected to test out their heading ability.

Wilcox, trained under both Rugby and American, is probably the best versed of the two in the art of punting out of bounds well down the field. Did Stanford but possess a pair of ends the equal of the All-American, Muller, and his teammate, Berkeley, Wilcox would not be forced to pay particular attention to this angle of the game.

Ready for Spring Call

Here are a couple of players in the American Division of The Oakland TRIBUNE Class A League and who will be among those to report when Coast League clubs issue the call to training camps in the spring. On the left is EDDIE ROSE, outfielder of the Magnavox, who will report to the Oaks, and on the right is TOD VONAH, Alameda boy, who covers the short patch for the Hayward Boosters and who reports to the Salt Lake Bees.

Sequoyah Golf Players Show Improvement

Christmas Cup Competition Will Be Feature of the Holidays.

By W. D. MONICOLL.

The annual contest for the Christmas cup at Sequoyah takes place tomorrow and Sunday and is to be over 36 holes, match play against par. In previous years this handsome cup was competed for in regular elimination match play, but owing to adverse weather conditions the committee was compelled to cancel all scores made in the qualifying rounds and substitute match play at handicap against par. Dr. H. G. Meek, who is the present holder, had a disastrous qualifying round which threatened to put him out of the first flight, but will now have an opportunity to compete and defend his trophy. His most dangerous opponent is the previous year's winner, Dr. J. H. Stinson, who has probably won more trophies during the year than any other golfer on the coast, despite the continuous cut in his handicap, which is now 4, just two strokes ahead of the Northern State champion, Dr. C. H. Walker.

E. J. Hadden, the club champion, had a rather disastrous season until the club's big event came along, then Mike started to shoot real golf, and vanquished his opponents with plucky exhibition. Dr. F. F. Jarvie was handicapped during the greater part of the year with a severe illness, but after his recovery played many brilliant games. F. E. McGurran has not won with the same consistency, but with his swing has probably affected the accuracy of his game.

Archibald, J. H. L'Honnelle and F. J. Hegan, the other low handicappers, have played consistently during the year. The greatest improvement has been noticeable among the intermediate players at Sequoyah, analysis of their work during the year would show a remarkable all-round reduction in their handicaps. It is to be the winner of the concluding event in 1922 is causing much keen rivalry at Sequoyah.

Traffic Rules Announced for Stanford Game

The California State Automobile association in co-operation with Stanford university officials, prepared traffic instructions covering motor vehicle traffic proceedings to and from the football game between Pittsburgh and Stanford at Palo Alto Saturday. Secretary-Manager D. E. Watkins yesterday announced the following for the information of the motoring public:

Automobiles from San Francisco going to the stadium will be diverted from the highway into the grounds at the main entrance and will be parked first in Area 4 and later, if necessary, in Area 3. Still further overflow will be parked in Area 1. All cars intending to return to San Francisco after the game will avoid delay and confusion by making sure that they enter one of these areas.

Cars from Palo Alto returning to Palo Alto or San Francisco after the game will be parked in Area 2, the coming from San Jose or from Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley around the south end of the bay and intending to return after the game by the same route will be parked in Area 5 and 6.

Cars coming from the south desiring to go north after the game may do so by going into Palo Alto by way of Churchill avenue, parking in Area 8 and after the game going north on the Middlefield road.

Through southbound traffic from San Francisco to Mayfield and San Jose will be diverted at the university entrance into the university grounds, keeping to the right along the Palm drive, passing around the west end of the Quad, entering the county road behind the university, and then coming back to Mayfield.

Through northbound traffic will be diverted at Churchill avenue into Palo Alto and will go north along Middlefield road to Menlo Park or Redwood City before joining the highway.

Cars from San Francisco which have parked in areas 1, 2 and 3 desiring to go south after the game can use the same route indicated above back of university to Mayfield. The distance between Churchill avenue and the highway opposite parking space No. 2 will be closed at 10:30 a. m. Embarkadero road on the Palo Alto side of the Southern Pacific tracks will also be closed at that time, and all the barriers on the campus will be placed as soon as possible thereafter.

All cars coming early for the game must be in their proper parking places at 12 noon; Palo Alto will handle through northbound traffic to Middlefield road; at 4:30 p. m. through southbound traffic will be diverted into the Stanford grounds just after crossing the San Francisco bridge and will be handled around the university to Mayfield.

Cars coming from Palo Alto and desiring to get to the residences on the campus after 11 noon will use the crossing at Alpa street and San Francisco bridge to get to the residences from which point they can turn south and will be diverted into the university grounds upon the Palm drive.

Willard Is Keen on "Exhibition" Bouts

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 29.—Seattle promoters today were looking for a heavyweight to oppose Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion, when he appears in an exhibition bout here Tuesday night. Search was being made for Battling DeGroot, declared to have proved himself the best of the local heavyweights.

ANDY KERR SEEKING A VICTORY OVER HIS FORMER COACH

Pittsburgh vs. Stanford Figures to Be Excellent Exhibition of Give and Take; Panthers Marvel at Dudley DeGroot

By TOM IRWIN.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 29.—Speculations wild and woolly have followed one another in close succession following the scheduling of the Card-Pitt game months ago. The game was to be a "friendly encounter," Warner was to play "his right hand against his left." Warner was to coach both team at once. But we have the assurance of both Kerr of Stanford and Warner of Pittsburgh, that there is going to be no in-b but give and take in this game. Kerr and Warner want to win equally bad. A victory would make Warner's reputation even greater than it is now while a win for Andy Kerr would assure his reputation. For him to beat his old master and his championship team with a group of men who have had but one year of the Warner system after a pot-pourri of Evans-Powell-Van Gent stuff had been left around would be a feather in his cap that would make any Alpine mountain climber yodel for a week.

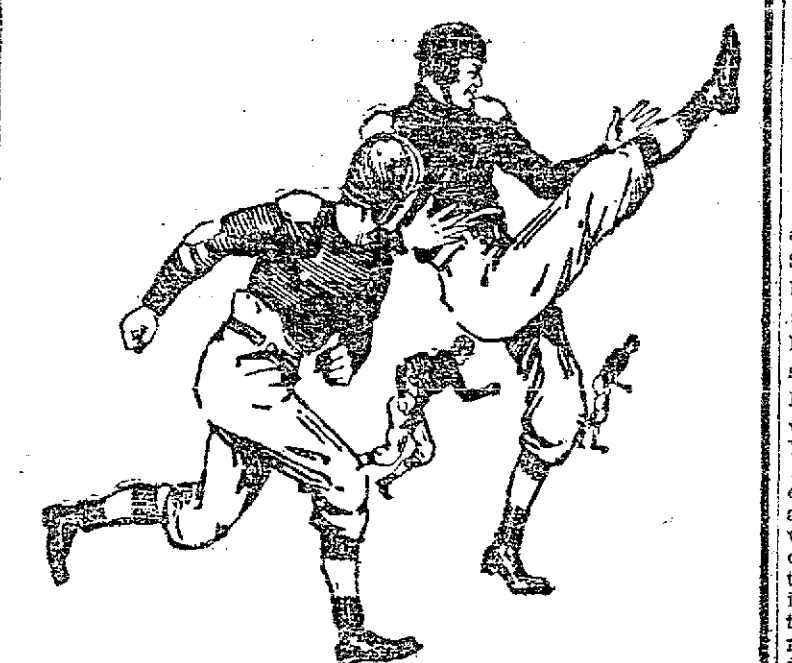

Moreover, it is nothing like impossible for Andy Kerr to do just that very thing. His men are thoroughly trained in the art of waiting for a chance to get back at the opposition. They are strong enough to stall off the invaders until they weaken and then a sudden flash of offensive power, together with deception play and aerial work they may be able to leave the Panthers in the lurch.

Warner Not in Dark About Cards

Warner, of course, is not wholly ignorant of the psychology of the Cardinal situation. Years of football experience has taught him what to expect and he may fool Andy Kerr by changing the order of procedure. It certainly would be a jolt for Warner if his one-time pupil should beat him at his own game. The inventor of the hidden ball trick and dozens of other deception plays cannot imagine himself being outdone in that department. However, he is in the West and there have been oodles of surprises out this way where games with eastern eleven are concerned. The Pitt squad received quite a jolt when they saw the Cards for the first time. Andy Kerr had told them that most of his men had small legs but the Panthers couldn't see it that way. Did DeGroot, especially, was a surprise for them. One of them was overheard telling a teammate that "this fellow DeGroot has legs like trees. He's as wide as a barn and as tall as a windmill and could hold a keg of beer in each hand and drink out of both at the same time." While nobody ever saw the Stanford skipper try this feat, the episode goes to prove that the Pitt men are as so confident of putting on a landslide as they were at first. As a matter of fact the Stanford squad is very little heavier than the Panther lineup. The Cardinal weight is all in the front rank while the Pitt backfield has pounds to spare. But still, it does the Stanford gang a lot of good to know that they're not looked upon as set-ups.

Cleveland May Replace Cuddeback

There has been much talk about substitution of Norman Cleveland for Murray Cuddeback at fullback for the Cardinals. That there is some reason for this prediction there is no doubt for the Cards' backfield reserve has been showing up wonderfully well the past few days. Under the tutelage of Duke Templeton, one of the greatest punters in coast football history, he has been improving his boot ever since the Big Game and is now almost as consistent as Andy Wilcox. At kicking from placement, however, nobody on the Card squad can touch a candle to Cuddeback. His deadly accuracy has pulled the Stanford squad out of many a tight hole this season and it is likely that Andy Kerr will start him and keep him in until near the end of the first half. There seems to be little doubt but that Cleveland will break into the game at some time, probably for a part of each half. It has also been rumored that Art Wilcox may not start because of injuries to his neck in the U. S. C. game but as long as Art is able to walk everybody may depend upon it that he will not be found on the sidelines. Did DeGroot will certainly start for it will be his last college football game. His head knee is by no means as strong as it used to be but he is as good as several ordinary men anyway.

Wilbur Sounds Warning About Grid Contests

Stanford President Speaks to Heads of Football Teams at Hi-Y. Banquet.

The assembled football teams and coaches of three colleges, Stanford, California and Pittsburgh, along with those of high schools of San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley, were given solemn warning last night by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford University at the banquet of the Hi-Y club in San Francisco.

Dr. Wilbur, as speaker of the evening, said that football was in a dangerous position and that it was a debatable question whether or not it could stand the adversities of prosperity. The problem of intercollegiate athletics has come to the front with such a rush and is now so broad in its scope that it dominates all else in the collegiate life.

American sports of recent years have become more or less of a public spectacle, according to Dr. Wilbur, who criticized the building of immense stadiums which represented a vast outlay of money but did not increase the ability of the masses to participate in athletics, the public being considered. Intra-mural sport were strongly endorsed by President Wilbur, whose contention that men should be allowed to learn the game in the gymnasium was warmly approved.

Other leading educators, including Professor Kleeberger of the University of California, Dr. W. A. Phillips gave the invocation, while Ben D. Dixon of the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. was toastmaster of the evening. Other speakers on the list included: J. H. McCallum, president of the local Y. M. C. A.; Captain Tom Holman of the Pittsburgh team; Ray Daugherty, president of the S. F. A. L. Captain Dudley De Groot of the Stanford team; Captain Charley Erb of the California team; R. R. Perkins, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Coach Andy Kerr of Stanford; Coach Andy Smith of California; Coach Glen Warner of Pittsburgh; and J. R. Klawans.

Penn. State Grid Schedule Announced

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 29.—The Pennsylvania State college 1923 football schedule, announced last night, comprises nine games, and is considered one of the hardest ever arranged for the Nittany Lion. It includes contests with the University of West Virginia in New York city, North Carolina and Georgia Tech. all new comers. The other opponents were played this fall.

Tommy O'Brien Gets Match With Dundee

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 29.—Johnny Dundee, junior lightweight champion boxer, and Tommy O'Brien, of California, are prepared for the ten-round, no-decision contest, before a local club tonight.

Wet Weather Is in Favor Of Easterners

Nittany Lions Have Played in Several Contests On Heavy Fields.

PASADENA, Dec. 29.—Football fans say that rain January 1 will benefit the Pennsylvania State college football team in the game against the University of Southern California in the sports feature of the thirty-fourth annual tournament of roses. The Nittany Lions, they say, are used to playing on a heavy field while the Trojans have played nearly all their contests this season on fields that were dry and fast.

In fourteen years rain has fallen only three times here on January 1, although the weather has been cloudy and threatening on several occasions. Rain has never seriously interfered with a game.

Search is being made for a picture studios where they saw companies filming pictures.

Criqui Willing To Accept Terms

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Tom O'Rourke, New York promoter, announced last night he had received word from his Paris agent that Eugene Criqui, French holder of the European featherweight boxing title, had accepted terms for a world championship match at the Polo Grounds next Decoration day, with Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, the present titleholder. Kilbane already has signed for the bout with O'Rourke.

FATHER KILLED. SON HURT WHEN CAR HITS BIKES

Watsonville Berry Grower and Boy Run Down By Auto on Highway.

WATSONVILLE, Dec. 29.—K. Yamasaki, 47, Japanese berry grower of this valley, was almost instantly killed Tuesday night and his 14-year-old son suffered severe injuries when they were run down by an automobile driven by George Ivanovich on the county highway about a mile north of this city.

Yamasaki and his son were riding on bicycles and had just turned into the main highway from a lateral road when the car hit them at a high rate of speed, according to the boy's story.

The elder Yamasaki was struck with terrific force and his head and the upper portion of his body mutilated. The boy was stunned and did not recover enough to give a coherent report of the tragedy for more than an hour.

He says that he and his father were on their way to town and had left their home only a few minutes before the fatal collision. He admitted that the wheels did not have all lights.

Dr. H. G. Waters was called to the scene and removed the injured men to the Watsonville Hospital where the father died shortly after arrival.

Traffic Officer John Paxton was one of the first arrivals at the scene and placed Ivanovich under arrest and brought him to this city where he was lodged in the city jail pending an investigation.

The dead man leaves a widow and one son the youth who was with him at the time of his fatal injury.

It's Rag, Not Red Color, Buils Hato, U. C. Savant Holds

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. Dec. 28.—When a red rag is waved before a bull it is the color that makes him angry, declared Professor George M. Stratton of the University of California before the American Psychological Association. Experiments had shown he said that the red color is not the cause of the animal's anger, but that the animal is attracted to the color by its brightness and its movement.

"More attention," he said, "is paid to the color than to the sound as much attention is paid to the color as to the sound. It is probable that the popular belief arises from the fact that cattle and particularly bulls, react to the color of the animal in the cause of the attack. In the case of the person, in a stranger's eyes or in other factors apart from the color itself."

The temperature on the moon was found to be as low as -100 degrees at the height point when the sun is at its height to the horizon. Professor Donald H. Menzel of Princeton said in a paper submitted today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Venus and Mars have an atmosphere," he said, "Mars being very thin and that of Venus resembling ours to a certain extent. The results indicate that the atmosphere of Mars does little to shield it from the sun's rays, but that the temperature at the equator during the day may be as high as 70 or 75 degrees centigrade, with a large fall during the night. We must have further evidence as to Venus. It is certain, however, that its temperature is higher than ours."

A typical weighing one ounce and a half test packet of a popular brand of instant coffee was brought to the attention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by a member of the association.

Upon the paper the machine writes means of a wheel which special ciphers bring in contact with the paper. Dr. W. H. D. Waters said that the duration of the test packet was slow in the hands of a beginner, but that an expert could write a word a second. It is almost needless to say that the machine is a marvel of modern science.

Truce Ends Siege Of Irish Consulate

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—An armistice has been signed in the siege of the Irish consulate, carried on for two days between the forces of the Free State and the republic, in the belief that reporters who called at the building where the consulate is located between midnight and dawn today found the outer entrance locked.

Late last night Landay Crawford, newly appointed consul-general of the Irish Free State in New York City, was holding his inner office. In the outer office Robert Briscoe, an officer of the Irish republican army, Mrs. Muriel Mac-Swiney widow of the former lord major of Cork and half a dozen other representatives of the republic were on watch.

Earthquake Felt In Eternal City

ROME, Dec. 29.—Slight tremors of an earthquake were felt here this afternoon causing much excitement. No serious damage, however, was reported.

The earthquake shock was also felt at Atezano in the Province of Aquila, at 1:35 o'clock according to a message received here. No damage was reported.

The popular press was particularly excited by the report of the disaster of 1915 when a violent quake razed the town killing approximately 500 persons.

Today's tremor also was felt at Capriello in the same province.
No victims have thus far been reported. The shock was very slight in Rome.

MAY HIT BY CAR.

BREKLEY, Dec. 29.—Walking into a Shattuck avenue street car at Shattuck avenue and First street early last evening, H. T. Hallowell who gave his address as Berkeley was taken to the Temple hospital unconscious. He was found to be suffering from a minor scalp wound.

In 60 years the negroes have acquired 22,000,000 acres of land in the United States.

Billy Sunday Believes It Is Bethlehem Star

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—Rev.
Billy Sunday has come to the support of the "Star of Bethlehem" reputed to have been seen here early Christmas morning.

Astronomers refused to be excited over the star, claiming that it was merely Jupiter in an especially brilliant mood.

Rev. Sunday today declared that he believed the star was the real despite a statement to the contrary by Prof. Lucien Larkin, astronomer.

"When science and religion cooperate, science is always wrong," declared Rev. Sunday.

The presence of this star indicates that the forecasts of Revelations are coming true. The sixth seal of eternity, as set forth in Revelations, refers to the second coming of Christ.

Especially in view of the prophecies fulfilled by the world war I believe the time is quickly approaching. As predicted by Revelations, Babylon is against us, there are strange signs in the heavens and the spirit of anti-Christ is at every turn.

The physicians it was announced today have found no evidence of organic disease or chronic illness and have come to the conclusion that the recent collapse of the famous actress was due only to over-excitement and strain.

In 60 years the negroes have acquired 22,000,000 acres of land in the United States.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE sell them so.

COMMUNITY WARNING Freed of Part in Bomb 'Warning'

S. F. Police Question Aired Man After Remarks
About "Plot."

The theory that L. Halsey, 50 years old and an inmate at the county hospital, wrote the recent letter to Police Chief Daniel O'Brien, warning him of a plot to blow up one of the big buildings in the heart of San Francisco's business district, was shattered late today.

Detective Sergeant George Richards, head of the bomb squad of the San Francisco police department, and Inspector Tom Woods of the local department interviewed the aged man at the hospital today and later declared that they were convinced that he was not the man who wrote the letter. Samples taken of Halsey's handwriting did not tally with the letter received by the San Francisco police.

The letter, which declared that an attempt was under way to bomb the "exchange" building in San Francisco, created a sensation and caused a cordon of police officers to be thrown about the large buildings in the downtown section as a precautionary measure. Chief O'Brien, who was inclined to treat the missive seriously, took no chances and for days patrolmen and plain clothes men patrolled the heart of San Francisco and searched the large buildings, while a drive which resulted in wholesale arrests was begun against all suspicious characters and radicals.

Halsey was found wandering about the streets yesterday by a small boy and taken to the Northern police station. There he gave a rambling statement about L. W. W. activities and about a plan that was about to blow up the exchange building in San Francisco. Police found that the man was an inmate of the county hospital and had been missing for three days. He was returned to the institution and the San Francisco police notified.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—Detective Charles Miller, 25, self-acknowledged organizer of the L.

WARDROBE LOSS RUINS HOLIDAYS FOR U. C. CO. ED.

WOODLAND, Dec. 29.—Miss May Sackett, daughter of J. B. Sackett of Winters, this county, came home to spend the holidays with her parents and friends here, but instead is busy sewing and purchasing new clothes with which to return to the University of California and resume her studies. While here she was notified that her entire wardrobe, valued at $500, was destroyed in the fire which gutted the Chi Omega sorority house in Berkeley recently.

Turlock Woodmen to Install in New Year

TURLOCK, Dec. 29.—A joint installation of officers will be held by the Modern Woodmen of the World on February 9.

The following officers for the ensuing year were elected at the last meeting of the lodge: Consul, Calvin Cook; advisor, E. G. Stage; banker, W. H. Schmidt; clerk, W. W. Ferguson; escort, E. C. Olson; watchman, L. D. Dazney; sentry, Charles Dahlgren, and trustee, G. R. Price.

W. W. may be connected with the "plot" to blow up one of the city's large buildings as revealed in a letter received by the police recently, was expressed by detectives today following the arrest of Miller yesterday.

Miller was picked up on Mission street by Patrolman Krueger in the city-wide drive against suspicious characters ordered by Chief O'Brien following the receipt of the threatening letter. In his possession, among other papers, was found a telegram of recent date from the I. W. W. headquarters at Fresno. It read:

"Move boys to Hetch Hetchy and Southern California Electric Company plant at Big Creek to use their supplies for job action."

Police Chief O'Brien and Captain Duncan Matheson, head of the detective bureau, believe that the phrases "to use their supplies" and "job action" indicate a sabotage plot. Miller was questioned concerning the significance of the phrases and answered that the telegram meant exactly what it stated and that he read it just like anyone else who would read it. Miller was arrested on a charge of subversion and Chief O'Brien directed that the proper authorities be notified of the telegram. Miller said he lives at 368 First street and joined the I. W. W. at Aberdeen, Wash., in 1919, when he was working in the lumber camps there, subsequently becoming an organizer.

OF WOOL BRING DEALERS WORRY

Possibility That Manufacturers and Growers May Trade Without Middleman.

By J. C. ROYLE

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Flockmasters throughout the country are taking greater precautions for the safety and well-being of their sheep this winter than ever before, according to reports today from widely separated sections of the country. They know that every pound of wool that comes off a sheep's back next spring will mean a sure and substantial profit.

But if they are casting a wise eye on weather and range conditions, they are also casting a wary eye on the possibility of the sheep being offered for sale by the grower. They prefer to take the chances and the profit if it comes that to let the dealers do so and few growers are entering into contracts for 1923 clips.

DEALERS ARE ANXIOUS.

Dealers are reliably reported to be getting anxious about the possibility of the sheep being offered for sale by the grower. They prefer to take the chances and the profit if it comes that to let the dealers do so and few growers are entering into contracts for 1923 clips.

Stocks of wool throughout the country are generally cleaned up. No further supplies of domestic product are available at least until the Arizona shearings start about the middle of February.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

In the meanwhile, dealers are watching the foreign markets every minute in the hope of piling up supplies which will compare with the figures they may have to pay on the ranges next spring.

The winter so far has been an open one. Flocks are in good condition and so are the ranges, but there are more sheep being fed than for a long time.

Price advances in woolen goods are forecast after New Year's. Clothing manufacturers are confident that such advances will be followed by a rise of $1 to $2 a garment in the lines they turn out. Many knitting and cloth mills in the east have already announced price advances in the neighborhood of 10 per cent.

As a result of conditions facing the growers, the Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered an inspection and investigation of all cars and locomotives in use. There is small doubt that this investigation will result in material improvement in conditions and practices, but there is a question whether the betterments produced will take place in time to meet conditions in the new year.

RAIL IMPROVEMENTS.

Roads are already taking steps toward improvement. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul is preparing to enlarge its terminal at Sioux Falls, S. D., and the Atchafalaya, Tokopka and Santa Fe will open new southwestern Kansas branch to Pacific Junction.

Light crude oil is in better demand among refiners and the recent advance in Montana and Wyoming crude, high in gasoline content, is expected in many cases to be followed by other price increases for light.

Lumber shipments are being pushed as the present lull in the market is not expected to last long after January 1. Cement manufacturers are making preparations for betterments in the sales of farm implements and hardware.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—Tals city is in the midst of department store clearance sales this week, and the splendid volume of trade which has been going on is being well followed by other price increases for light.

The movement of flour, both for domestic and foreign consumption, is improving and manufacturers are making preparations for betterments in the sales of farm implements and hardware.

Whole sale trade, including cotton goods, hardware, groceries and other lines, is showing a marked expansion. One of the largest wholesale dry goods distributors in the south reported today that more orders had come in for January and February delivery than at any time for many years.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 29.—Franks of steel and iron of buildings are holding up well, although the number of sales recorded this week indicates that dealings are not so heavy as a month ago.

The recorder's office is slowly catching up with the tremendous number of deeds and mortgages filed for record, and it is now possible to run through a settlement within two weeks after a sale has been made.

There has been a tendency toward enlarging the business section of the city, and new transit plans are counted on to relieve heavy congestions in some sections and build up others. There are a large number of municipal improvement projects now under way, and these will be pressed to completion in 1923.

Holiday trade was exceedingly heavy, and was well diversified by specialty shops as well as department stores, setting a record.

GRAIN. The high price of cotton is having an effect on the grain districts of the south. There are indications that wheat acreage and arranging to plant to cotton. From Denton county comes a report that wheat reduction has amounted to 25 per cent.

PIEDMONT PLANS ARTISTIC WORK ON CITY CENTER

Community Heart. When Finished, Will Be Beauty Spot of Bay District.

PIEDMONT, Dec. 29.—Plans recently completed and providing for a comprehensive scheme for the city's future development, including the construction of a new community center around the upper portion of Piedmont park, were announced today by members of the Piedmont Civic Association, who are behind the project.

A complete model of the proposed center has been constructed, the cost having been met by voluntary subscription, and a number of architects who were assigned to the work have finished designing the project, which, when completed, will be one of the beauty spots of the bay region.

The plan has been developed under the auspices of the association in line with the progressive movement taking place in Europe and America with respect to town planning and covers the replanning of land and streets in the central section of the city around the upper portion of the park.

The work on the construction of the model was financed principally by W. I. Brobeck, Captain A. M. Merrill, James Tyson, Wallace Alexander, William E. Creed, Walton N. Moore, Ransom Beach and several others.

Architects Houghton Sawyer, Albert Farr and C. W. Dickey, and Lieutenant-Commander Robert E. Carney, U. S. Government engineer, collaborated in designing the work. Gregg O'Brien, working under the direction of the architects and engineer, made all the drawings, and Bernhard V. Gerow executed the model.

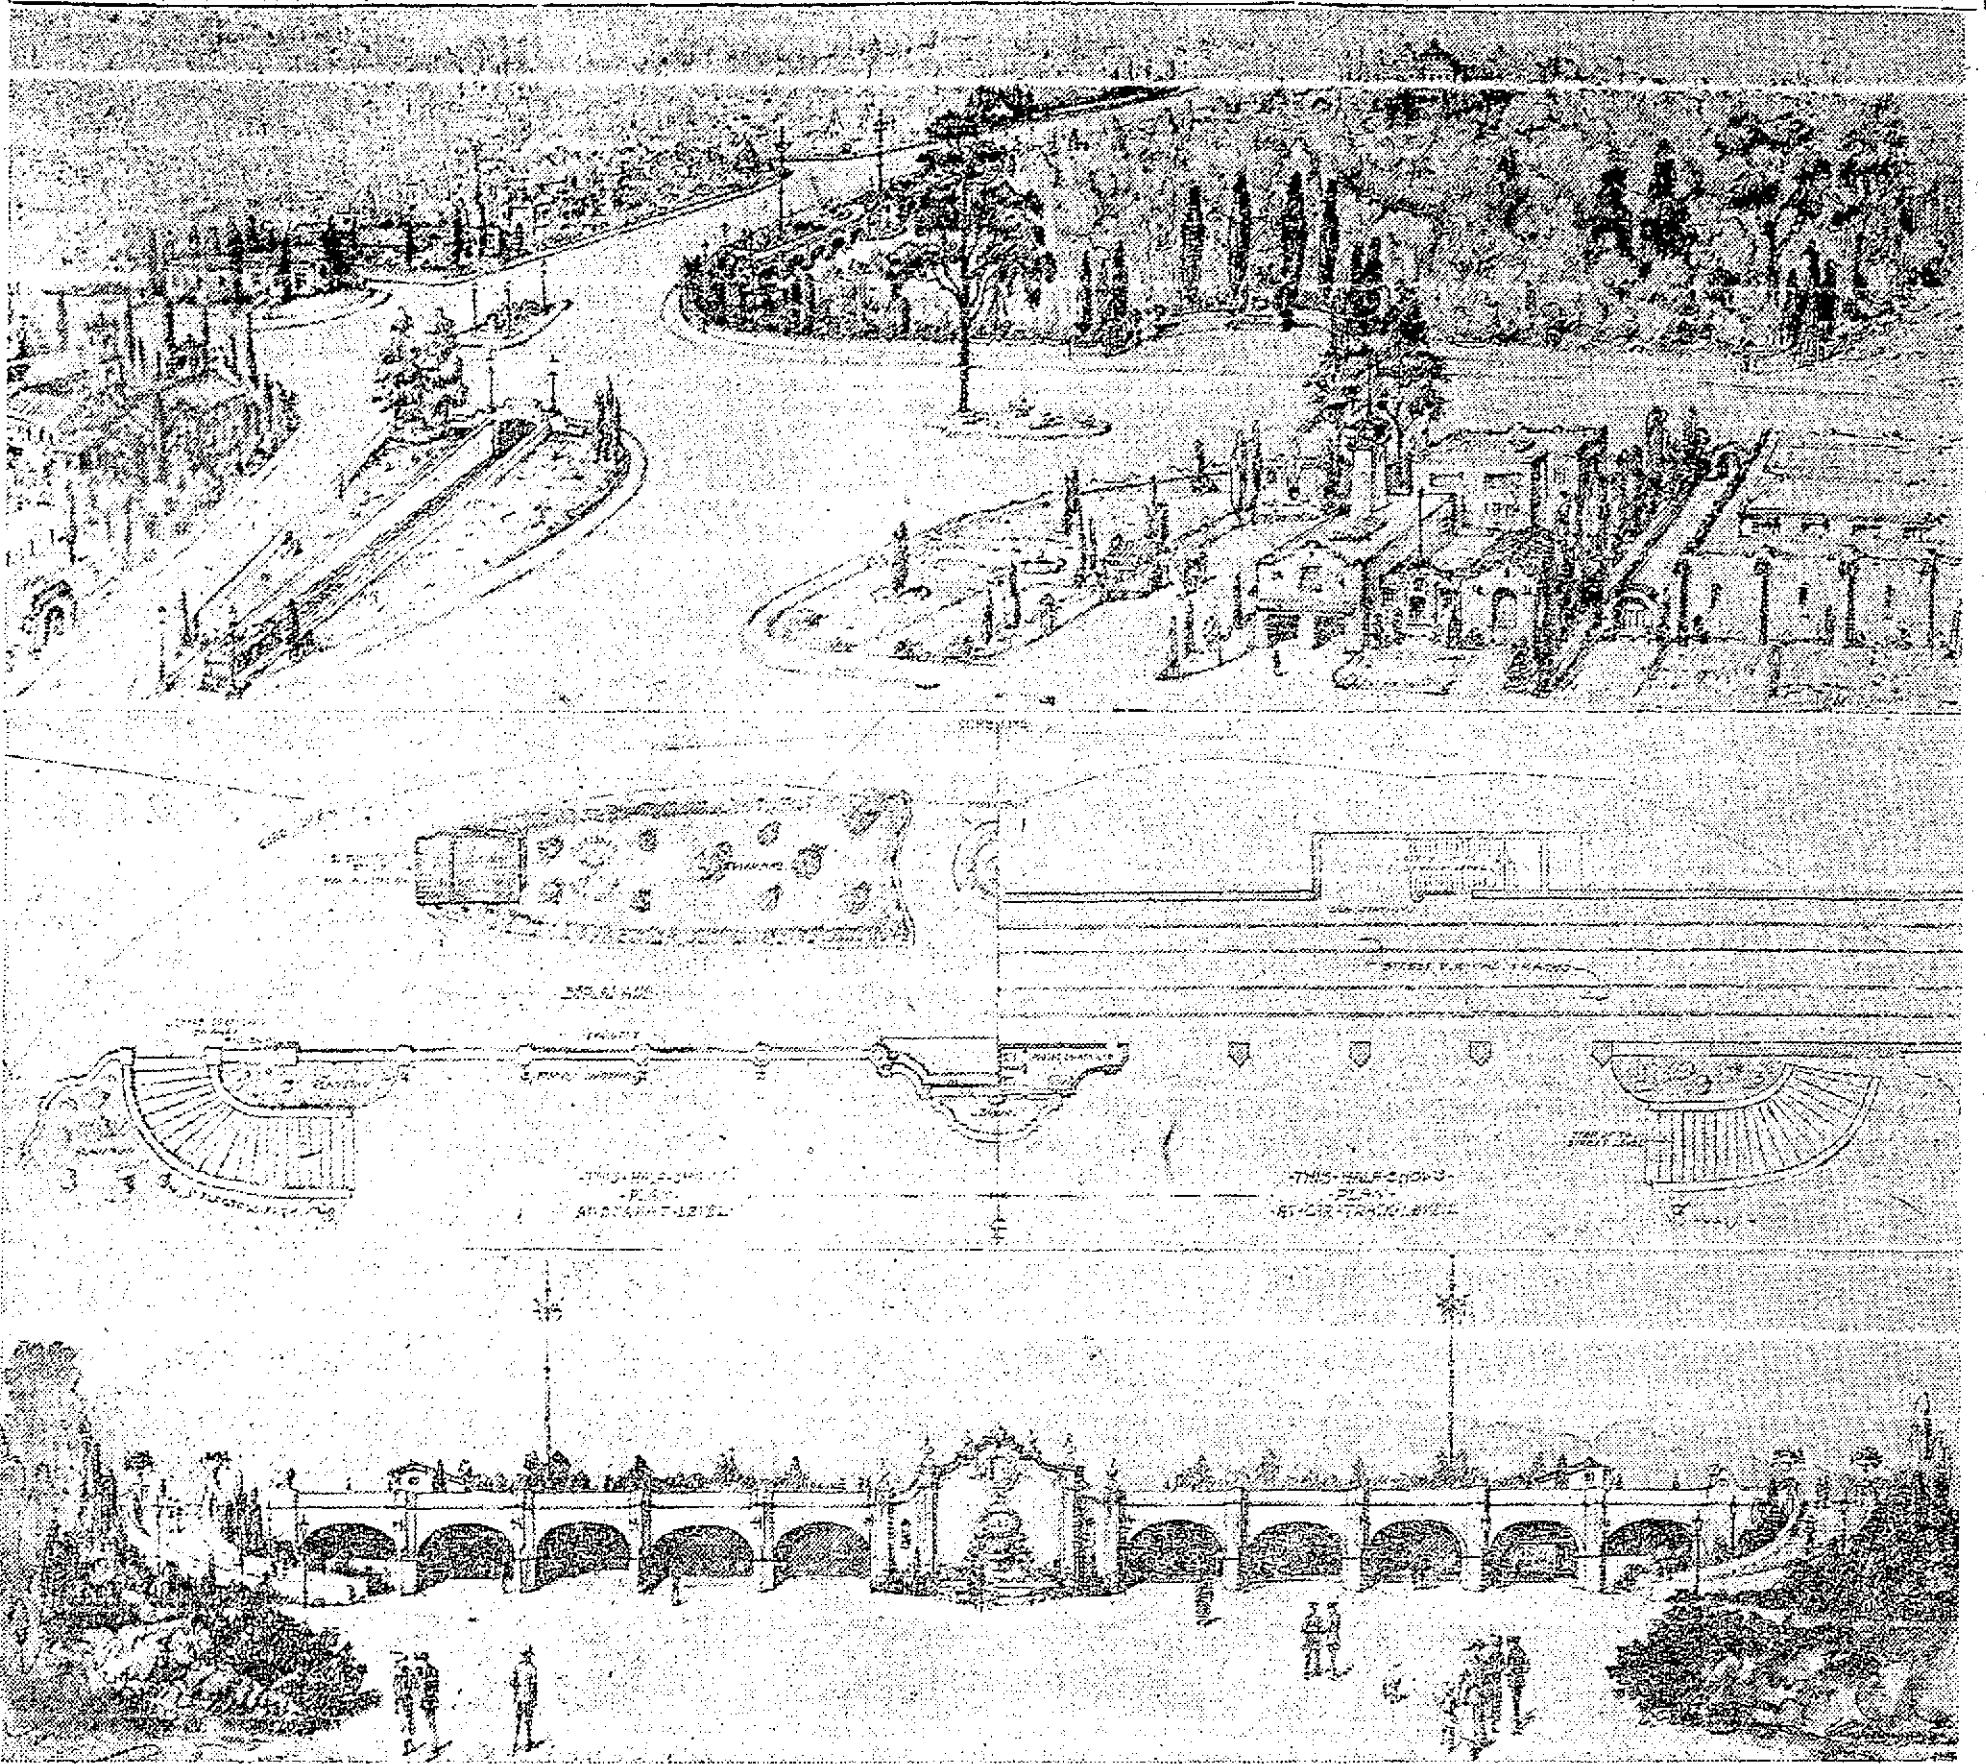

In accordance with the plan for the proposed community center, the rearrangement of the streets at the upper end of Piedmont park will be one of the first steps in the actual construction of the center. Free and open traffic channels were given primary consideration, according to the architects, and to this end the work has been planned so as to eliminate the crossing of street railroad tracks at three points. This has been accomplished by the re-routing of the tracks, carrying them through tunnels under the highway and permitting exit and entrance to the cars directly in the park.

This unique feature was created, not only to impress visitors to the city favorably but to permit hundreds of children to play to and from the cars and schools without danger from automobile traffic.

According to the plans Highland

Proposed Community Center for Piedmont

The upper drawing is a panoramic view of the Piedmont Community Center and Park, for which plans have been completed. The new street car tunnel and causeway and various proposed buildings are shown. Below—Looking toward the planned causeway from Piedmont park.

avenue has been widened at this point of carrying a causeway out over the east end of Piedmont park. This will serve as a conced station for the street cars in inclement weather. Board flights of stairs from either end of the causeway will lead directly to the car platform, off which will be arranged public comfort stations for both men and women. The upper portion of the causeway will be developed as a terrace garden with fountain and flower beds, enclosed by a low wall and illuminated by cluster lighting standards.

The present triangular plot of land upon which the stores and the gasoline and oil service stations are located will be purchased by the city and the stores will be removed, in accordance with the plans. Provision will be made for the stores and service stations elsewhere. This land will be used in part for the north tunnel approach and the balance for park purposes.

The soldiers' memorial will not be disturbed. The removal of the stores will open up this portion of Highland avenue and widen the vista across the park, which will be still further accepted by the cutting off of the western portion of the block on the west side of Highland avenue between Vista and Magnolia, with Highland avenue sweeping into Magnolia on a wide curve. The width of Magnolia avenue running toward the new Piedmont high school will be increased to provide a suitable approach to the school.

It is planned to leave undisturbed the specimen of eucalyptus on the axis of Highland avenue, to create about a safety station with seats and fountains. Beyond this, on the same axis and projecting into Piedmont park as a termination to the straight portion of Highland avenue, will be built an exedra, with terminal pilons and parapet walls and seats and with broad flights of steps into the park.

It has been decided that the northern portion of the plot of land acquired by the city upon which to locate a new city hall. This site, it was pointed out, has the advantage of elevation with Piedmont park as a background.

Stores have been selected for a library, museum, municipal market square, and the armory of the Piedmont battery, National Guard of California, for which the national government has provided more than $500,000 of equipment. The location of the library and museum is central, on the main traffic channel, convenient to the street cars and yet sufficiently removed to assure quiet. The municipal shopping district is also central and the principal lines of traffic. The armory, possibly combined with a gymnasium, is convenient to the schools.

It was announced today that the Piedmont Civic Association does not propose that the scheme be carried out in its entirety at this time, but it does recommend the purchase by the city of such land as may be necessary to consummate the plans eventually. The plans and the model embody an ideal toward which the city, in its development, from time to time, may add a portion, until, within a period of from 10 to 15 years, the scheme may be completely

In laying out the plans for the community center, the architects and engineer, it was said, have kept in mind the convenience of the site and have made their plans to conform to it. They have followed the lines of natural contours and have purposely avoided a stiff balanced scheme. They have looked for a free and picturesque grouping for the smaller community rather than for one of pretentious and staid formality.

HALF-FARE PLEA IS ANSWERED

The San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway today filed before the State Railroad Commission a formal answer to the City of Oakland's request that half fares be granted to Oakland school children. The Terminal Railway, through its attorneys, makes the following points in contradiction to the city's case:

1. It denies that there is no valid reason for distinction between the school children of Oakland and those of Richmond and Alameda. The latter cities, on January 14, 1913, adopted ordinances demanding a 2½-cent fare. Oakland has no such ordinance.
2. It questions the mayor's statement that 3616 school children ride on the street cars in Oakland, or that 5800 would ride on the cars if the half-fare were granted.
3. It denies that the increased traffic, if any, would increase the company's revenues.

Copies of the company's answer were given the city attorney this morning.

18th St. Trains to Stop on North Side

Mayor Davis announced that the Southern Pacific has agreed to halt its Eighteenth street trains to discharge passengers on the north side of Fourteenth street at Franklin, without compelling them to continue to the depot and cross Fourteenth street again.

This innovation, according to the mayor, is the result of several letters on the subject. Passengers coming south on the incoming trains asserted that they were at the depot, though the train always stopped for traffic reasons at the north side of Broadway. These passengers alighted at the depot, turned north and crossed the Fourteenth street traffic again.

RAINSTORM PLAYS CRACK-THE-WHIP WITH PIPE LINE

Odds and Ends of Pontoon Strwn Along Bay Shore By Heavy Wind.

As a result of a costly game of "crack-the-whip" played during the storm by the city's pontoon pipe-line on the western waterfront, city laborers today and yesterday amused themselves by collecting various odds and ends of pontoons which were straying around the shore line.

The pontoon pipe line, 25 pontoons in all, runs from the big municipal dredge to shore. The mud and silt dug up by the dredge runs through these pipes.

On Wednesday night, a point in the line broke near the dredge. The line of pontoons then swung away and whirled around in such fashion that the endmost pontoon, with its pipe, was snapped off the line and went scouping "on its own."

The next crack of the line broke loose pontoons 2, 3 and 4, which sailed away for a little journey up the shore line. Later episodes sent pontoons 5, 6 and 7 and 8 to join them, and the game was still going on at a late hour yesterday.

Everything has been collected and the total damage is slight.

THROAT OF OIL WORKER CUT IN STREET BATTLE

Former Roommate Is Held While Police See If He Is to Blame.

RICHMOND, Dec. 29.—Surgeons at the Cottage Hospital are attempting today to determine whether wounds about the throat and face received by C. C. Belche during a street fight last night with J. H. Gibb, were caused by stabbing or by glass from a window the men broke while fighting.

Belche, who is 40 years old and an employee of the Standard Oil company here, said he was stabbed by Gibb, who is 25 and an employee of the Shell Oil company at Martinez.

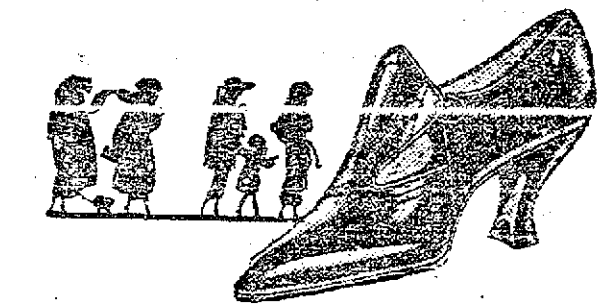

Gibb denied this today and said that Belche received the gashes about the throat and face when he fell against a plate glass window, shattering it.

Gibb, who was arrested last night shortly after the fight, is being held by the police pending settlement of the question as to how Belche received his wounds. Belche will recover, attending surgeons say.

The fight occurred at Seventh street and Bissell avenue. According to the participants, the trouble arose out of a dispute over a debt. The two were roommates here until Gibb moved to Martinez.

A total of 180 different kinds of bacteria have been taken from the body of a house fly.
